Kennedy, Bonn Leader Want A-Armed NATO

Disarmament Challenge Fired At Soviet Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer agreed today the North Atlantic alliance should prepare to defend the West by "all military means," including nuclear weapons.

At the same time they challenged the Soviet Union to join in disarmament and other negotiations to lessen the danger of war and work toward a "general and total peace."

These purposes were set forth in a joint communique issued by the two leaders upon the conclusion of two days of talks at the White House.

In their formal statement they did not spell out what "military means" they had in mind for strengthening NATO's ability "to deter effectively a potential aggressor." But U.S. officials said nuclear weapons are included.

Kennedy and Adenauer discussed proposals for giving NATO a nuclear striking force under its own command, the United States and Britain to furnish the weapons.

But this project still is under review in the Kennedy administration. And the President and Adenauer were reported to have reached no final conclusion on it, though Adenauer is understood to have expressed support for such an undertaking.

Their statement pledged the leaders "to preserve the freedom of the people of West Berlin pending the reunification of Germany. . . ."

They asserted that the problems of Berlin and divided Germany can be solved justly only "through the application of the principle of self-determination."

In a joint communique on their discussions Kennedy and Adenauer followed up their declarations on Germany, Berlin and NATO with a call for East-West agreement on disarmament measures and for negotiations "to secure a life in freedom to all nations."

"The goal," they declared, "is a general and total peace."

In discussing NATO the two men said the alliance "is indispensable in order to coordinate the efforts of the Allies for the preservation of peace and security in the world."

Violent Spring Storm Batters Eastern States

Snow And Floods Close Some Schools

By The Associated Press

Wind, rain and snow swept the Northeast Thursday in a violent spring storm.

There was snow from Washington, D. C., and Maryland up through the New England states. Elsewhere, heavy rains caused flooding that closed some schools in New Jersey and southern New York.

Some schools in upstate New York were also closed by snow estimated unofficially at 10 inches or more. A similar fall was measured in New Germany in Western Maryland, and eight inches fell in other areas of northern New York and northern Connecticut.

Tides were three to seven feet above normal along the shore from Cape May, N. J., to Cape Cod, Mass. Waves battered boats.

Three 17-year-old Amityville, N.Y., high school boys were found dead in a small boat off Long Island's South Shore. They set out Wednesday to test a new outboard motor, became caught in the storm and apparently died of exposure.

The storm also delayed Sir Winston Churchill's departure for London. He was to have taken a jet flight out of Idlewild. But his trip was deferred because it was impossible to get him off the yacht Christina, which had anchored in the Hudson River after bringing the former British prime minister here from a Caribbean cruise.

Two passenger liners were delayed in coming into Manhattan. The liners Atlantic and Sylvania, with 572 passengers aboard, anchored off Ambrose Light to ride out the worst of the storm before coming in.

Flames Engulf Havana Store After Bombing

HAVANA (UPI) — Three bombs believed placed by anti-Castro saboteurs exploded in the nationalized El Encanto department store Wednesday night, and flames engulfed all six floors of the building.

Two of the bombs apparently started the fire and the third caused the corner of a wall to collapse on a fire truck and part of its crew.

Ambulances started removing casualties, but there was no immediate indication of how many firemen were injured.

Firemen were handicapped by lack of water pressure, perhaps caused by last week's sabotage of an aqueduct, which has not been fully repaired.

The water supply from the hydrants later stopped and firemen had to use tank trucks, with flames shooting from the roof of the store, they turned their efforts to preventing the fire's spread to neighboring buildings.

The sabotage acts were believed to have been committed by anti-government employes of the stores. They started with the $5 million fire that destroyed the La Epoca department store New Year's Eve.

Overseas Mail Rates Boosted, Effective July 1

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General J. Edward Day Thursday announced increases in U. S. postal rates to most foreign countries "to close the fast increasing gap between revenues and costs of international mail operations."

The postmaster general has the power to revise international postal rates without new legislation. The new rates will go into effect July 1.

Day said the deficit on mail sent abroad is about $18 million annually.

President Kennedy is expected to ask Congress for a one cent increase in domestic regular and airmail stamps to help trim the staggering postal deficit which Day has estimated will reach a record $831 million next year.

Ordinary surface mail to all countries other than Canada and Mexico will be increased from 8 to 11 cents for the first ounce, Day said.

Regular mail postcards to countries other than Canada and Mexico will be hiked from 5 to 7 cents.

The 15-cent airmail rate for Europe will remain unchanged. But air mail letters going to South American countries will be increased from 10 to 15 cents per half ounce. Three cents will be added to the current rates for Caribbean countries and Central America.

Bishop Placed Under Dominican Detention

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Massachusetts Roman Catholic bishop in the Dominican Republic, frequently assailed by officials of that nation, has been placed under detention by Dominican authorities, the Catholic Information Office here reported Thursday.

The bishop, Thomas F. Reilly, New Bedford, Mass., the subject of a violent attack over Dominican radio stations in the past week, is detained at his residence, the first floor of which was wrecked by a mob, the information office said.

The bishop's residence is at San Juan de la Maguana. The clergyman has spoken out on various occasions against the 30-year dictatorship of Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo.

Radio Station Doubts Soviet Space Claim

BALTIMORE (AP)—Radio station WITH, Baltimore, broadcast an editorial Thursday night saying the station "does not believe the Soviet Union has successfully completed an orbit of the earth with a cosmic vehicle with a man aboard."

A spokesman for the station said the editorial would be rebroadcast frequently over a 24-hour period.

"They have furnished not one single piece of documentation," the station said of the Russians' announcement of the orbit flight, "or have they invited any Western newsmen to any of their alleged launchings or recoveries.

"In this specific case, the only notification was an alert to Western newsmen to tune in Radio Moscow at a certain hour Moscow time. At such time there were alleged transmissions from the cosmonaut in outer space. We think these were tape recordings."

Moscow Will Salute Space Hero Today

Astronaut Tells Of Experiences In Spin Around Globe

MOSCOW (AP)—When you go orbiting around the earth, says Yuri A. Gagarin, you float above your chair in the space ship. The sun blazes "tens of times brighter than here on earth."

The earth's sunny face is separated from the black void by a band of delicate blue color.

On the descent into the earth's atmosphere "one's legs and arms feel as before during weightlessness," and "I am no longer hovering over the chair."

The 27-year-old pilot gave this account to the Soviet news agency Tass somewhere in the Soviet interior Thursday as Premier Khrushchev prepared a tremendous welcome for him Friday in this excited capital. Salutes in the astronaut's honor will roar out all over the Soviet Union.

No Western correspondent has seen Gagarin.

Silent On Blastoff Stresses

Tass did not say how he stood up under the stresses of acceleration at blastoff. Dogs shot into space were flattened to the floor and showed great alarm.

Gagarin said he came smoothly through the next two stages—the strange sensation of weightlessness and the return of gravity on the descent, Tass reported.

In fact, he said he found it easier to do everything when the tug of gravitation ceased on the second stage of his flight into an orbit that took him around the earth in 89 minutes, Tass said.

"This is quite natural," he told Tass. "One's legs, arms, weigh nothing. Objects float in the cabin. Neither did I myself sit in the chair as I did before that, but hung in midair. While in the state of weightlessness, I ate and drank and everything occurred just as it does here on earth.

Took Notes While Weightless

"I even worked in that condition, wrote, jotting down my observations. My handwriting did not change although the hand does not weigh anything. Only I had to hold the notebook. Otherwise, it would float away. I maintained communications over different channels and tapped the telegraph key."

The state of weightlessness arises when the outward thrust of a speeding space vehicle strikes a balance with the earth's gravitational pull. That balance of forces also keeps the vehicle in orbit.

Gagarin, an air force man, never before had been more than 10 miles above the earth, Tass said but then in a five-ton space ship he was whizzing around the earth at 17,000 miles an hour in an orbit that carried him 188 miles away from the earth.

Israel Mourns Jews' Slaughter

JERUSALEM (AP) — "All the massacres of history are overshadowed by the disaster" brought upon the Jewish people by naziism, Culture Minister Abba Eban said Thursday, a day of remembrance for those who passed down "the corridors of hell" Adolf Eichmann helped to create.

Just three miles from the building where Eichmann is imprisoned, his trial in recess for the day, Israeli government officials met beside a stark stone and concrete mausoleum containing the ashes of Nazi concentration camp victims.

There, atop a hill overlooking the valley of Ain Karem—birthplace of John the Baptist—the victims were laid to final rest Thursday morning.

At sunset, President Yitzhak Ben-Zvi led government and diplomatic officials in a special program of remembrance.

Abba Eban, Israel's former ambassador to Washington and now minister of culture, pleaded that the horror wrought by Eichmann and other architects of Nazi Germany's "final solution to the Jewish problem" not be forgotten.

The long ceremonies brought a halt to the Eichmann trial which opened Tuesday.

Kennedy Asks U. S. Agencies Be Overhauled

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress Thursday to whip the federal regulatory agencies into streamlined shape. He singled out the Federal Power Commission for the biggest overhaul.

Except for the FPC, Kennedy's proposals were broad and general in dealing with the agencies that, as he described them, "permeate every sphere and almost every activity of our national life."

In the case of the FPC, Kennedy asked Congress 1. To increase the number of commissioners from five to seven, 2. To break up a logjam of cases by exempting small natural gas producers and some pipeline construction from jurisdiction, and 3. To pass legislation designed to protect the gas consumer.

In a special message to Congress Kennedy said faster action by the FPC on some construction permits would mean more jobs for the unemployed.

The President's proposals for all the agencies followed to some extent recommendations of James M. Landis, his special adviser on regulatory agencies.

But Kennedy did not include Landis' recommendations that some agencies consolidate and that the President appoint a general coordinator of the agencies.

The President did, however, deplore what he called "the lack of coordination of regulatory practices."

"Economic effort encouraged by one agency may find discouraging treatment by another," Kennedy said.

"Iron curtains are drawn between agencies operating in the same general area."

Kennedy said efforts were under way to improve coordination in the fields of broadcasting and surface transportation. He said the results of these efforts and recommendations based on them would be sent to Congress later.

The President's message covered the FPC, National Labor Relations Board, Securities and Exchange Commission, Federal Trade Commission, Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Communications Commission, Civil Aeronautics Board, Federal Aviation Agency, and Federal Maritime Board.

GOP Wants Congress Urge U.N. Bar Peiping

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republican congressional leaders announced Thursday they will seek a declaration by Congress opposing admission of Red China to the United Nations to counter rumors that the U.S. position is "softening."

They forecast "overwhelming" adoption of such a declaration.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., told a news conference that the Republican leadership is "most happy" that President Kennedy denied a news story from London that he had agreed not to oppose U.N. debate next fall on Red China's bid for a seat.

Noted Scientist Is Electrocuted In Lab Accident

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Philip A. Gallagher, 33, brilliant Stanford University solar research scientist, was killed Thursday when he accidentally touched a 5,000-volt, high-tension wire.

He was investigating unusual oscillation of a transformer in the radio-science laboratory.

Fellow scientists were unable to explain how he came in contact with the wire.

Dr. Gallagher was codirector of a solar research project which, in February 1960, made radar contact with the sun for the first time in history. Project workers bounced radar signals off the sun, the transmission from earth to sun and return taking 17 minutes.

JFK To Watch Navy Exercise From Flattop

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will observe day and night flight operations from the aircraft carrier Independence off the Florida east coast April 22-23, the White House announced Thursday.

The President, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of the Navy John B. Connally are to board the big flattop at its Mayport, Fla., base April 22. The party will return to Mayport the following day, perhaps by helicopter.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger was asked whether there is any connection between the President's trip and the first attempt by the United States to launch a man into space —an effort expected to be made late this month from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Salinger said there is not, adding that the maneuvers had been routinely scheduled before the President accepted the Navy's invitation to observe them. Salinger said he understood the Navy is planning some added maneuvers for the commander in chief but didn't say what they would be.

$1.25 Minimum Pay Bill Draws Fire In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's minimum wage measure moved to the Senate floor Thursday and promptly ran into a brisk cross-fire from Southern Democrats and conservative Republicans.

Administration leaders remained confident they have the votes to put over their proposal to boost the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour and extend coverage to about four million workers, mostly in the larger retail stores, service industries and construction.

But it seemed unlikely there would be a final vote until after extended debate and many efforts to narrow down the White House program.

The House already has passed a measure put across by joint action of Southern Democrats and conservative Republicans. This calls for raising the wage floor to $1.15 and extending coverage to 1.2 million workers, all in chain stores. The present law applies to about 24 million employes.

After the Senate acts, the differences will have to be resolved in a conference committee of the two chambers.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., brought the Senate into session at 11 a.m.—an hour earlier than usual—in order to get started on one of the President's major legislative objectives. But five hours passed before any sort of vote was taken—and that was a minor one.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., won voice approval for an amendment to require a study of wages of nontipped hotel, motel and restaurant employes not covered by the present law or pending measures.

Although Mansfield said earlier he planned to hold the Senate in session late Thursday night to expedite action, it adjourned at 6:21 without any significant action. However, the leader set Friday's opening for 10 a.m., two hours ahead of the usual time.

Russian Feat Stirs Clamor In Congress

NASA's Top Men Say Money Not Time Substitute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bothered and bewildered congressmen put America's top space officials on the grill Thursday over the latest and most dazzling Soviet space orbit feat.

Taking over the largest hearing room available, House Space Committee members one after another quizzed the top men of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Out of a welter of suggestions, criticisms and wistful maybe-next-time remarks came these ideas:

Rep. Victor L. Anfuso, D-N.Y.—"I want to see this country mobilized to a wartime basis, because we are at war. I want to see schedules cut in half."

Rep. David S. King, D-Utah—The United States should push big solid-fuel space boosters to do a quicker and better job than liquid-fuel rockets; "There are no prizes for second place—we all know who Lindbergh was but who in this room remembers who was the second man to fly across the Atlantic."

Ticker Tape Parade Suggested

Rep. James G. Fulton, R-Pa.—Yuri A. Gagarin, the Soviet globe-girdler, is a hero of the human race. "Let's be broad-minded about this. Why don't we give him a ticker tape parade in New York? He's a very brave man."

Doing their best to answer the drumfire of questions were James Webb, newly installed NASA director, and Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy director who has been with NASA since its inception.

The most clearcut answers seemed to be these:

Dryden said: "The race was lost . . . before the space agency was founded." The Soviet Union began its major effort in 1954, he said, and NASA was not set up until 1958. "There is some question, sir, that you can make up four years in two years."

Webb: "The bottleneck, if that is what you are searching for, is at Cape Canaveral, and that is on a three-shift basis."

This was in reply to questions on why the Huntsville, Ala., space rocket center is not operating on an around-the-clock basis. Dryden said, "Huntsville does not need three shifts for its part in the Mercury (man-in-space) program."

Money Not Time Substitute

Time and again, committee members—Republican and Democratic—asked if the space program had enough money.

Dryden said, "Money is not a complete substitute for time."

Neither witness gave in to committee suggestions that the Mercury timetable should be speeded up. The target date for an American in orbit, they said, is still late this year, or even early next year.

Several committee members have shown intense interest lately in solid-fuel space vehicles. The now-developing Saturn booster, which will generate 1½ million pounds of thrust, is liquid fueled.

The committee interest stems from recent testimony of industry witnesses that a solid-fuel rocket could develop as much as 20 million pounds of thrust and be ready to go in 18 months.

Africa Boycott Shunned By U.N

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The General Assembly Thursday refused to vote diplomatic break and economic sanctions against South Africa because of its racial policy.

The assembly failed to return the required two-thirds majority to enact a stringent clause of a resolution sponsored by 24 African countries, Indonesia and Cuba. The rollcall vote showed a simple majority, which under the rules was insufficient for passage.

The vote was 42 to 34, with 21 abstentions.

Ghana and Ethiopia, acting for the sponsors, then requested that with the "teeth" of the resolution extracted by the assembly vote, the remainder of the measure should not be voted upon. The assembly agreed.

The assembly, however, approved a milder measure sponsored by five Asian powers deploring South Africa's apartheid, or racial separation, policy. It suggested that all countries decide for themselves on taking separate or collective action to influence the Union government to abandon the policy.

The vote was 95 to 1.

Cooley's Daughter Tells How Her Mother Killed

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — The teen-age daughter of former Western bandleader Spade Cooley tremulously told a hushed hearing Thursday she saw him beat and stomp her mother, then burn her with a cigarette.

A coroner's jury ruled the death April 3 of Ella Mae Cooley a homocide, with Cooley, 50, responsible.

In a voice the nine male jurors could barely hear, Melody Cooley, 14, said she saw her father drag her mother from a shower stall by the hair and bang her head against the floor.

Then, she said, Cooley told her: "We'll just see if she's dead. You're going to watch me kill her —because if you don't I'll kill all of us."

The child said Cooley stomped her mother in the stomach and burned her twice with a cigarette. Then, Melody said, she poured cold water on her mother but failed to rouse her.

Melody fled from their ranch home, she said, after her father warned her: "Don't tell the police anything—I might have to kill you."

After the inquest, Dist. Atty. Kit Nelson told newsmen Cooley had made plans to marry Anita Roos, a violonist who once played with Cooley's band.

Cooley filed suit for divorce against his wife, 37, last month.

During the inquest Cooley, suffering from a recurring heart ailment, sat at the counsel table in a wheelchair. He kept his eyes closed most of the time and occasionally screwed his face into a grimace. He declined to testify.

Pilots Finish Month-Long Make-Believe Space Trip

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force jet pilot declared "our hats are off to the Russians" for their successful space flight after he and another officer completed a month-long simulated space trip Thursday.

"I hope one of these days we'll be there," Lt. Eugene Carlson declared after he and Capt. Ramon C. Horinek stepped from an 8x12-foot steel tank at the end of the test of man's ability to endure some of the stresses he will encounter in space.

Carlson said he wouldn't care to undertake a real space flight "without the proper kind of indoctrination — my fears would probably get the best of me."

Horinek, 28, and Carlson, 27, said they were surprised when word of the Soviet orbital flight came over the loudspeaker about an hour before the 29-day, 22½-hour test ended at 6:30 a.m.

Officials at the School of Aviation Medicine at Brooks Air Force Base suspended the practice of keeping the occupants ignorant of outside happenings so the men would have time to recover from the surprise.

Both men's wives and Horinek's father, Alton, of Atwood, Kan., were on hand when the pilots emerged from the cabin. Each pilot was pale and about 10 pounds lighter than when he entered.

The officers and Air Force scientists who supervised the experiment agreed that it was a success.

Carlson, of Fargo, N.D., said the test was "the fastest 30 days that ever went by."

Israel Mourns Jews' Slaughter

JERUSALEM (AP) — "All the massacres of history are overshadowed by the disaster" brought upon the Jewish people by naziism, Culture Minister Abba Eban said Thursday, a day of remembrance for those who passed down "the corridors of hell" Adolf Eichmann helped to create.

Just three miles from the building where Eichmann is imprisoned, his trial in recess for the day, Israeli government officials met beside a stark stone and concrete mausoleum containing the ashes of Nazi concentration camp victims.

There, atop a hill overlooking the valley of Ain Karem—birthplace of John the Baptist—the victims were laid to final rest Thursday morning.

At sunset, President Yitzhak Ben-Zvi led government and diplomatic officials in a special program of remembrance.

Abba Eban, Israel's former ambassador to Washington and now minister of culture, pleaded that the horror wrought by Eichmann and other architects of Nazi Germany's "final solution to the Jewish problem" not be forgotten.

The long ceremonies brought a halt to the Eichmann trial which opened Tuesday.

Simulated Space Flight Ends

Capt. Ramon Horinek (left) and Lt. Eugene Carlson emerged yesterday morning after 29 days, 22½ hours in an 8 by 12-foot steel tank in which they simulated a flight through outer space. Upon emerging, the Air Force men were shown a picture of the Russian pilot who completed the first manned orbit of the earth. (Story at bottom of page) (AP Photofax)

Kennedy Asks U. S. Agencies Be Overhauled

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress Thursday to whip the federal regulatory agencies into streamlined shape. He singled out the Federal Power Commission for the biggest overhaul.

Except for the FPC, Kennedy's proposals were broad and general in dealing with the agencies that, as he described them, "permeate every sphere and almost every activity of our national life."

In the case of the FPC, Kennedy asked Congress 1. To increase the number of commissioners from five to seven, 2. To break up a logjam of cases by exempting small natural gas producers and some pipeline construction from jurisdiction, and 3. To pass legislation designed to protect the gas consumer.

In a special message to Congress Kennedy said faster action by the FPC on some construction permits would mean more jobs for the unemployed.

The President's proposals for all the agencies followed to some extent recommendations of James M. Landis, his special adviser on regulatory agencies.

But Kennedy did not include Landis' recommendations that some agencies consolidate and that the President appoint a general coordinator of the agencies.

The President did, however, deplore what he called "the lack of coordination of regulatory practices."

"Economic effort encouraged by one agency may find discouraging treatment by another," Kennedy said.

"Iron curtains are drawn between agencies operating in the same general area."

Kennedy said efforts were under way to improve coordination in the fields of broadcasting and surface transportation. He said the results of these efforts and recommendations based on them would be sent to Congress later.

The President's message covered the FPC, National Labor Relations Board, Securities and Exchange Commission, Federal Trade Commission, Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Communications Commission, Civil Aeronautics Board, Federal Aviation Agency, and Federal Maritime Board.

GOP Wants Congress Urge U.N. Bar Peiping

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republican congressional leaders announced Thursday they will seek a declaration by Congress opposing admission of Red China to the United Nations to counter rumors that the U.S. position is "softening."

They forecast "overwhelming" adoption of such a declaration.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., told a news conference that the Republican leadership is "most happy" that President Kennedy denied a news story from London that he had agreed not to oppose U.N. debate next fall on Red China's bid for a seat.

Noted Scientist Is Electrocuted In Lab Accident

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Philip A. Gallagher, 33, brilliant Stanford University solar research scientist, was killed Thursday when he accidentally touched a 5,000-volt, high-tension wire.

He was investigating unusual oscillation of a transformer in the radio-science laboratory.

Fellow scientists were unable to explain how he came in contact with the wire.

Dr. Gallagher was codirector of a solar research project which, in February 1960, made radar contact with the sun for the first time in history. Project workers bounced radar signals off the sun, the transmission from earth to sun and return taking 17 minutes.

JFK To Watch Navy Exercise From Flattop

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will observe day and night flight operations from the aircraft carrier Independence off the Florida east coast April 22-23, the White House announced Thursday.

The President, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of the Navy John B. Connally are to board the big flattop at its Mayport, Fla., base April 22. The party will return to Mayport the following day, perhaps by helicopter.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger was asked whether there is any connection between the President's trip and the first attempt by the United States to launch a man into space—an effort expected to be made late this month from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Salinger said there is not, adding that the maneuvers had been routinely scheduled before the President accepted the Navy's invitation to observe them. Salinger said he understood the Navy is planning some added maneuvers for the commander in chief but didn't say what they would be.

$1.25 Minimum Pay Bill Draws Fire In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's minimum wage measure moved to the Senate floor Thursday and promptly ran into a brisk cross-fire from Southern Democrats and conservative Republicans.

Administration leaders remained confident they have the votes to put over their proposal to boost the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour and extend coverage to about four million workers, mostly in the larger retail stores, service industries and construction.

But it seemed unlikely there would be a final vote until after extended debate and many efforts to narrow down the White House program.

The House already has passed a measure put across by joint action of Southern Democrats and conservative Republicans. This calls for raising the wage floor to $1.15 and extending coverage to 1.2 million workers, all in chain stores. The present law applies to about 24 million employes.

After the Senate acts, the differences will have to be resolved in a conference committee of the two chambers.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., brought the Senate into session at 11 a.m.—an hour earlier than usual—in order to get started on one of the President's major legislative objectives. But five hours passed before any sort of vote was taken—and that was a minor one.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., won voice approval for an amendment to require a study of wages of nontipped hotel, motel and restaurant employes not covered by the present law or pending measures.

Although Mansfield said earlier he planned to hold the Senate in session late Thursday night to expedite action, it adjourned at 6:21 without any significant action. However, the leader set Friday's opening for 10 a.m., two hours ahead of the usual time.

Russian Feat Stirs Clamor In Congress

NASA's Top Men Say Money Not Time Substitute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bothered and bewildered congressmen put America's top space officials on the grill Thursday over the latest and most dazzling Soviet space orbit feat.

Taking over the largest hearing room available, House Space Committee members one after another quizzed the top men of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Out of a welter of suggestions, criticisms and wistful maybe-next-time remarks came these ideas:

Rep. Victor L. Anfuso, D-N.Y.—"I want to see this country mobilized to a wartime basis, because we are at war. I want to see schedules cut in half."

Rep. David S. King, D-Utah—The United States should push big solid-fuel space boosters to do a quicker and better job than liquid-fuel rockets; "There are no prizes for second place—we all know who Lindbergh was but who in this room remembers who was the second man to fly across the Atlantic."

Ticker Tape Parade Suggested

Rep. James G. Fulton, R-Pa.—Yuri A. Gagarin, the Soviet globe-girdler, is a hero of the human race. "Let's be broad-minded about this. Why don't we give him a ticker tape parade in New York? He's a very brave man."

Doing their best to answer the drumfire of questions were James Webb, newly installed NASA director, and Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy director who has been with NASA since its inception.

The most clearcut answers seemed to be these:

Dryden said: "The race was lost . . . before the space agency was founded." The Soviet Union began its major effort in 1954, he said, and NASA was not set up until 1958. "There is some question, sir, that you can make up four years in two years."

Webb: "The bottleneck, if that is what you are searching for, is at Cape Canaveral, and that is on a three-shift basis."

This was in reply to questions on why the Huntsville, Ala., space rocket center is not operating on an around-the-clock basis. Dryden said, "Huntsville does not need three shifts for its part in the Mercury (man-in-space) program."

Money Not Time Substitute

Time and again, committee members—Republican and Democratic—asked if the space program had enough money.

Dryden said, "Money is not a complete substitute for time."

Neither witness gave in to committee suggestions that the Mercury timetable should be speeded up. The target date for an American in orbit, they said, is still late this year, or even early next year.

Several committee members have shown intense interest lately in solid-fuel space vehicles. The now-developing Saturn booster, which will generate 1½ million pounds of thrust, is liquid fueled.

The committee interest stems from recent testimony of industry witnesses that a solid-fuel rocket could develop as much as 20 million pounds of thrust and be ready to go in 18 months.

Africa Boycott Shunned By U.N

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The General Assembly Thursday refused to vote diplomatic break and economic sanctions against South Africa because of its racial policy.

The assembly failed to return the required two-thirds majority to enact a stringent clause of a resolution sponsored by 24 African countries, Indonesia and Cuba. The rollcall vote showed a simple majority, which under the rules was insufficient for passage.

The vote was 42 to 34, with 21 abstentions.

Ghana and Ethiopia, acting for the sponsors, then requested that with the "teeth" of the resolution extracted by the assembly vote, the remainder of the measure should not be voted upon. The assembly agreed.

The assembly, however, approved a milder measure sponsored by five Asian powers deploring South Africa's apartheid, or racial separation, policy. It suggested that all countries decide for themselves on taking separate or collective action to influence the Union government to abandon the policy.

The vote was 95 to 1.

Cooley's Daughter Tells How Her Mother Killed

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — The teen-age daughter of former Western bandleader Spade Cooley tremulously told a hushed hearing Thursday she saw him beat and stomp her mother, then burn her with a cigarette.

A coroner's jury ruled the death April 3 of Ella Mae Cooley a homocide, with Cooley, 50, responsible.

In a voice the nine male jurors could barely hear, Melody Cooley, 14, said she saw her father drag her mother from a shower stall by the hair and bang her head against the floor.

Then, she said, Cooley told her: "We'll just see if she's dead. You're going to watch me kill her—because if you don't I'll kill all of us."

The child said Cooley stomped her mother in the stomach and burned her twice with a cigarette. Then, Melody said, she poured cold water on her mother but failed to rouse her.

Melody fled from their ranch home, she said, after her father warned her: "Don't tel' the police anything—I might have to kill you."

After the inquest, Dist. Atty. Kit Nelson told newsmen Cooley had made plans to marry Anita Roos, a violonist who once played with Cooley's band.

Cooley filed suit for divorce against his wife, 37, last month.

During the inquest Cooley, suffering from a recurring heart ailment, sat at the counsel table in a wheelchair. He kept his eyes closed most of the time and occasionally screwed his face into a grimace. He declined to testify.

Pilots Finish Month-Long Make-Believe Space Trip

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force jet pilot declared "our hats are off to the Russians" for their successful space flight after he and another officer completed a month-long simulated space trip Thursday.

"I hope one of these days we'll be there," Lt. Eugene Carlson declared after he and Capt. Ramon C. Horinek stepped from an 8x12-foot steel tank at the end of the test of man's ability to endure some of the stresses he will encounter in space.

Carlson said he wouldn't care to undertake a real space flight "without the proper kind of indoctrination — my fears would probably get the best of me."

Horinek, 28, and Carlson, 27, said they were surprised when word of the Soviet orbital flight came over the loudspeaker about an hour before the 29-day, 22½-hour test ended at 6:30 a.m.

Officials at the School of Aviation Medicine at Brooks Air Force Base suspended the practice of keeping the occupants ignorant of outside happenings so the men would have time to recover from the surprise.

Both men's wives and Horinek's father, Alton, of Atwood, Kan., were on hand when the pilots emerged from the cabin. Each pilot was pale and about 10 pounds lighter than when he entered.

The officers and Air Force scientists who supervised the experiment agreed that it was a success.

Carlson, of Fargo, N.D., said the test was "the fastest 30 days that ever went by."

Kefauver Upholds Price-Fix Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., overruled a Republican effort Thursday to suspend a Senate investigation of price fixing in the electrical equipment industry. He denied that the hearings would become a three-ring circus at the expense of an already punished industry.

But the argument which arose between Kefauver, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Antitrust subcommittee, and Sen. Alexander Wiley, R-Wis., delayed until Friday the start of testimony by officials of several big electrical corporations.

Wiley objected that fresh "notoriety" from the hearing would prejudice the electrical companies' defense against multimillion-dollar civil damage suits pending in the courts.

He said the committee should postpone its hearing to avoid "a national prejudgment" of the damage suits. Or else, he said, it should hold executive sessions and release the testimony after the courts have ruled in the damage suits.

Kefauver retorted that the guilt of 29 leading companies and 44 individual executives was established when they pleaded guilty or no contest recently in a Philadelphia federal court to charges of bid rigging and price fixing. The fines totaled nearly $2 million.

Kefauver said the hearings must go forward to determine what legislation is needed to "prevent a recurrence of this shameful business" in the electrical or other industries.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Jewels valued at more than $80,000 were stolen recently from a shop here and smuggled in a brightly colored rubber ball to Guatemala by a band of thieves from Colombia. The theft was confessed by an arrested suspect.

Plans Complete For Food Stamp Pilot Project

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration Thursdy announced completion of provisions of the food stamp plan to be tried out on a pilot basis in eight areas of chronic unemployment.

The project is expected to cost not more than $50 million a year, and probably nearer $3 to $4 million a month.

The purpose is to raise food purchasing power for low income families and needy persons.

Howard P. Davis, director of food stamp development in the Agriculture Department, said the target date for starting the plan was early June.

The pilot projects are in Franklin County, Ill.; Floyd County, Ky.; Detroit, Mich.; the Virginia - Hibbing - Nashwauk complex in northern Minnesota; Silver Bowl County, Mont.; San Miguel County, N.M.; Fayette County, Pa.; and McDowell County, W. Va.

Davis said commercial food marketing channels will be used to get additional food to needy families. The families will receive stamp coupons which will be good for the purchase of most foods in grocery stores.

The items that cannot be purchased with the stamps include alcoholic beverages, tobacco, fishery products, and foods selling at prices over 90 per cent of parity. Such foods will very seasonally.

In February, those foods selling above 90 per cent of parity included veal, lemons, limes, apples, grapefruit, and certain fresh vegetables.

The stamps will be in two denominations — 25 cents and $1.00. Each coupon will be about the size of a dollar bill.

Pennsylvania Bids For Defense Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. David L. Lawrence informed the Defense Department Thursday that Pennsylvania's vast private industrial network is at the disposal of the government for defense work.

The Pennsylvania governor conferred with Roswell L. Kilpatrick, deputy secretary of defense, after a trip by automobile from Harrisburg.

Lawrence said a plan has been worked out whereby the federal and state governments and private industry will coordinate efforts to allocate defense work to Pennsylvania.

He said he informed Kilpatrick at the closed-door conference that a survey of plant space, employment conditions and other facts is being completed by the State Commerce Department.

Pa. Democrats Call Redistricting Huddle

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pennsylvania Democratic leaders agreed Thursday to call a meeting here next Tuesday of the state's Democratic congressmen to consider a rearrangement of the state's congressional districts.

The decision was made at a luncheon meeting in the Capitol attended by Gov. David L. Lawrence, Rep. Francis E. Walter, dean of the congressional delegation, and Rep. William J. Green, Philadelphia Democratic chairman.

Pennsylvania is due to lose three seats in the U.S. House of Representatives because of population shifts disclosed by the 1960 census.

Pennsylvania now has 30 House seats.

Man Back In Jail After Stealing Jail Work Shirt

EASTON, Md. (AP)—A 60-year-old Washington, D. C. Negro was sentenced to 10 days in the Talbot County, Md., jail Thursday for stealing—of all things—a Talbot County Jail work shirt, valued at $1.50.

The man, Shelton B. Neal, came to the jail April 9 and requested lodging. He said he had no money or place to sleep. Sheriff George O. Granger complied, but when Neal walked out of the jail the next morning, he apparently had on one of the jail's work shirts under his own. He was apprehended a short time later.

Teen-Age Beauties Dedicate Three Ships

BALTIMORE (AP)—Three cargo-passenger ships were dedicated in a single ceremony today at Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Sparrows Point yards in Baltimore.

The noon-time event, marking the start of construction of the vessels, which will cost $53 million, formed part of Pan American week observances in the U.S.

Each of three teen-age beauties from prominent South American families dedicated one of the ships to her country.

The young women represented Columbia, Ecuador and Panama—ports of call on the vessels' itinerary from New York. They are expected to go into service for Grace Line sometime next year.

Rain forced postponement of the actual keel-laying and drove the dedication ceremony indoors.

Waitress Charges Assault By Delegate

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Mrs. Patricia J. Andrews, a cocktail waitress at a local night spot, Thursday filed assault charges against Del. Charles R. Brockmeyer, D-Anne Arundel.

Mrs. Andrews works at the Diamond Horseshoe key club of the Red Coach inn here.

Brockmeyer is already involved in a suit against John Mandis and Arthur Moore, manager and bartender respectively at the Red Coach.

Mandis and Moore requested a jury trial at a magistrate's hearing Wednesday.

Administration Files Alabama Vote Rights Suit

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — The Kennedy administration filed its first voting rights suit Thursday, charging the state of Alabama and the Dallas County Board of registrars with discriminating against Negro voter applicants.

It was the seventh such suit filed against Alabama counties. Previous actions were initiated by the administration of former President Eisenhower.

Thursday's suit was filed by the Justice Department in U. S. District Court here.

It asked for an injunction to halt the alleged discriminatory practices and demanded the Dallas County voter records be open for federal inspection.

The suit said that while there were approximately 15,115 Negroes of voting age in the southwest Alabama County, only 156 were registered. It pointed out that by contrast 9,195 of the county's estimated 14,400 white persons were registered voters.

Adopted In Japan, Now U.S. Citizens

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two children, adopted in Japan by an American airman and his wife and brought to this country seven years ago, became American citizens Thursday.

Judge R. Dorsey Watkins administered the citizenship oath to Peter Gill, 11, and his sister Deborah, also 11, in a special naturalization ceremony held in U.S. District federal court here.

Their parents are M.Sgt. Fred R. Gill and his wife, Gertrude. The couple adopted the children during Gill's tour of duty in Japan, 1952 to 1954.

Gill has since retired from the service and now is in Hawaii, which may eventually become the family's home. His wife lives in Cheverly, Md.

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Stepped-up government spending on research was seen in Wall Street Wednesday as a lever for economic growth and long-run strength in the stock market.

The full flower of these influences is years off, said Goodbody & Son. However, the fruit of accelerated research and development in the 1950s is being harvested now.

The brokerage firm's premise was based partly on the point that basic research ultimately gives rise to technical innovation.

This, in turn, fosters profitable business activity, particularly in the new scientific areas.

The analysis showed that research and development spending rose from 1.41 per cent of the gross national product in 1953 to 2.58 per cent in 1959.

It noted that the federal government, which accounts for 60 per cent of dollar input at the national level, is budgeting much more liberally for this purpose in fiscal 1962.

Expenditures then are slated to be triple those of 1953, the firm said, and there are indications heavier emphasis will be put on basic scientific inquiry—the most fruitful kind ultimately.

"If this is the case, then we may find our economy growing at a faster rate than the recent 2½ per cent annually—perhaps even reaching the 5 per cent rate stated by President Kennedy during his campaign," it added.

Gets License Back

LONDON (UPI)—Race driver Stirling Moss got his driver's license back at midnight Thursday after a one-year suspension.

Moss, who continued to compete outside the country during the ban, was given the penalty for dangerous driving.

FLAMING TRUCK BLOCKS TOLLWAY—Flame and smoke pour from a loaded gasoline truck that overturned yesterday as it attempted to turn off the Tri State tollway in Alsip, a southwest suburb of Chicago. The driver, Stanley Pancyrz,41, Chicago, leaped to safety before the 7,700 gallons of gasoline burst into flames. The burning wreckage blocked rush-hour traffic on the tollway for several hours. Airlines' Profits Poorest In Decade

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The nation's 12 major domestic airlines made their poorest profit showing in a decade last year, final figures showed Wednesday.

A 1960 financial report by the Air Transport Association (ATA), revealed:

—A net profit after taxes and interest of slightly more than $1 million despite record revenues of nearly $2 billion.

—A 2.9 per cent rate of return on investment, far below the 10.5 per cent which the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) has said is required for adequate airline earnings.

—A profit margin of only 0.06 per cent compared with a 3.4 per cent margin in 1959.

About 25 per cent of all federal income tax returns are found to contain errors.

New Chemical Element Discovered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists have discovered a new short-lived chemical element which some experts believe was formed at creation and decayed out of existence in a few weeks, the Atomic Energy Commission announced Wednesday.

The as-yet unnamed radioactive substance, the 103rd element to be found by scientists, was the first discovered solely by nuclear methods. It was recreated by four chemists in an atom smasher at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory at the University of California.

The chemists have suggested that the element be named Lawrencium, with the chemical symbol LW. This would honor the late Ernest C. Lawrence, Nobel Prize-winning developer of the cyclotron and founder of the laboratory.

The famous Pony Express was a financial failure but a romantic triumph. It started on April 3, 1860, out of St. Joseph, Mo., and ended 18 months later.

The statistical agency reported the index $6.03 on April 11. This compares with $6.00 a week earlier and $5.95 in the same week last year.

Corn, barley, hams, bellies, lard, coffee, cottonseed oil, cocoa and eggs advanced while flour, wheat, rye, oats, beef, butter, potatoes, steers and hogs declined.

Cheese, sugar, milk, tea, beans, peas, peanuts, rice, molasses, raisins, currants, prunes and lambs were among the unchanged commodities.

Soviet Space Trainees Kept Under Wraps

MOSCOW (UPI) — The world's first spaceman is the product of a Soviet astronaut training program that has been largely kept under wraps by authorities.

In sharp contrast to the publicity surrounding the U.S. Project Mercury astronaut program, only an occasional mention has been made in the Soviet press about the Russian space trainees.

The training site of the Russian astronauts, their personal lives and even the number of candidates were kept secret although Soviet scientists said they had received hundreds of applications for space training.

The first Soviet admission that an astronaut training program existed came in October, 1959, in the weekly magazine Ogonyok.

The article said the Soviet man-in-space program was well underway at that time and gave the name of three astronaut trainees —Alexei Grachev, Alexei Bolokonev and Ivan Kachur. Later in 1959 the newspaper evening Moscow identified a fourth space candidate—G. Mikhailov.

The Ogonyek article said that Russia's future spacemen were undergoing tests in pressure chambers simulating conditions in outer space. It reported they were being subjected to centrifugal pressures imitating possible orbital flight conditions.

Experts said the description indicated the Russian trials were much similar to those undergone by trainees in the American astronaut program.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—If you're silver-haired, round but not fat, and kind-looking, you might be just the type of female Model Row's looking for.

Candy Jones, ex-cover girl and now a model maker, said in an interview that there's a dearth of such mature-looking models.

"We have enough of the vague look in a vogue body," she said. "I personally could use a dozen of the older, wholesome types myself."

Miss Jones, who heads a charm school bearing her name, said that of 5,000 working models in New York there are not more than 100 of the mature type.

Miss Jones got on the subject of older models in connection with a recent survey of 100 top executives. Each was asked what he or she would do if given a plane for two weeks — and $5,000 pocket money.

The survey was in connection with a contest sponsored by a firm offering a plane for two weeks and $5,000 as the top prize.

Miss Jones said she would take the plane and fly to places like Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Split Lip, Tex., and Butte, Mont., looking for potential older models.

"I have a feeling I would be more successful in the search if I stayed away from the big metropolitan areas," she said.

"The kind of woman I'd look for would be between 30 and 50 years of age, but she would look between 35 and 45.

"She would stand five feet, four inches or five feet, six inches in her stocking feet. She could wear a half size dress—say a 12½ or a 14½."

Though round, the subjects Miss Jones selected would have firm bodies.

"There would have to be evidence," she said, "that they haven't been spending all their free time around a bridge table".

In the face of such a woman there would be what Miss Jones called evidence of "forgotten virtues."

"We need the face that speaks kindness, honesty, gentleness," she said.

"Such women are needed for life insurance ads, for television commercial work, and to model dresses in the half size field. "You might call them the young grandmothers."

New Chemical Element Discovered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists have discovered a new short-lived chemical element which some experts believe was formed at creation and decayed out of existence in a few weeks, the Atomic Energy Commission announced Wednesday.

The as-yet unnamed radioactive substance, the 103rd element to be found by scientists, was the first discovered solely by nuclear methods. It was recreated by four chemists in an atom smasher at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory at the University of California.

The chemists have suggested that the element be named Lawrencium, with the chemical symbol LW. This would honor the late Ernest C. Lawrence, Nobel Prize-winning developer of the cyclotron and founder of the laboratory.

The famous Pony Express was a financial failure but a romantic triumph. It started on April 3, 1860, out of St. Joseph, Mo., and ended 18 months later.

SBA Community Aid Program Outlined

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—David Fine, deputy administrator of the Small Business Administration, Thursday described his agency's "self help" programs for small businesses to the Maryland Economic Development Commission.

Fine, in a luncheon address, called the small business agency "the best kept secret of the prior administration."

Fine told the Maryland commission he joined the federal agency with "a mandate from the President to help the economy of this country."

He said his agency is authorized to loan state credit corporations, such as Maryland's new Development Credit Corporation, an amount equal to its borrowings from all other sources. The federal loan would be on the same terms and conditions as the other borrowings.

Fine said money borrowed under this program can be used for anything that eventually benefits small business and the best interests of the state.

He outlined a program designed to help individual communities and their small businesses. In this program, Fine said, it was possible for a community to borrow up to $250,000 for assistance to an identifiable small business.

He explained that funds under this program could also be utilized to aid small businessmen forced to relocate by urban renewal or similar projects.

Fine said the Small Business Administration also supports a program of financial aid to small business investment companies for long-term loans to needy concerns.

In other activity, the Economic Development Commission:

1. Took note of the decision to lift the slogan "Come See Us" from next year's auto license tags, as originally proposed.

2. Approved the purchase of three additional prints of the new promotional film "This Is Maryland." Director George Hubley said demand for the film had "outstripped all our expectations."

3. Approved a $780 expenditure for tourist advertising in June issues of six magazines, but held up action on a proposed nine-week, $10,500 newspaper campaign.

4. Agreed to meet in Frederick next month and discuss problems concerning the Civil War Centennial.

Understanding Education Goal, Conferees Told

BALTIMORE (AP) — Understanding — which can't be taught by mere drill — should be the objective of education, a Columbia University educator said Thursday.

Dr. Arthur Foshay, the Columbia official, told 400 educators attending the Maryland Conference on Elementary Education that such an approach would revolutionize the teaching field.

"It is important for children to learn about history the way a historian does, rather than learning a set of facts," the speaker, executive officer of Columbia's Horace Mann-Lincoln Institute, declared.

Literature, he said, should be taught as a means of understanding the human condition.

Dr. Foshay said too often the emphasis is on syntax rather than ideas.

Teachers of literature must unfold whatever it is the author is trying to say, the educator said.

He told the gathering of school principals, supervisors and superintendants from all over the state that the tradition of learning by rote must be swept aside.

The two-day conference ends Friday.

Marine Volunteer At Age Of 80 Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — John A. Davis, who once boasted he had voted in every presidential election since 1881 and who volunteered for the Marines at the age of 80, has died of pneumonia in a suburban Washington nursing home. In two weeks he would have been 100.

He was the father of Roy Tasco Davis, former Maryland state senator and U.S. ambassador to Haiti under President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The elder Davis' last presidential vote was cast in November. It was for Richard M. Nixon, the Republican nominee, whom Davis had met years ago when Davis was living in Oakland, Calif.

Davis died Wednesday.

$103,000 Year Saving

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad can save $103,000 a year by closing its Mount Royal station, company spokesmen told the Public Service Commission Thursday.

Edward Riecks, general passenger agent for the carrier, and Miles Clipsham, company accountant, testified at a hearing before the commission on the proposed shutdown of the terminal April 30.

Salovaara said a survey of 28 government and business organizations using the smaller cars showed use of the smaller autos had resulted in appreciable savings.

Shell Research scientists reveal how they got

168.47 miles per gallon

One hundred and sixty-eight miles per gallon must be a world record. Like most world records, it took enthusiasm and hard work.

The two Shell scientists who hold this record have told us how they managed it. They have also added some tips on how you can increase your car's mileage. Not by using their own outlandish techniques. But by careful driving and today's Super Shell gasoline.

Dave Berry and Fred Schuette, in the rebuilt 1924 coupé which set the world mileage record. Its original frontal area was reduced by about 75 per cent to cut down wind resistance.

SHELL scientists thrive on competition.

Some years ago, an argument as to who could get the most miles out of a gallon of gasoline boiled up into a challenge. And Shell's Mileage Marathon was born.

Shell scientists have competed in this Marathon for several years. Not as a publicity stunt. But purely as a private contest. They use their own cars, time and money.

Not for everyday use

The best mileage recorded so far is a resounding 168 miles per gallon.

Many of the things contestants did to achieve this world record are not recommended for use on the public highway. But they do throw some light on what makes a little gasoline go a long way.

Record-breaking car cost $35

Shell's record-breaking car was a highly modified 1924 coupé (see cut). It was rescued from a junkyard for $35.

The only requirements that had to be met to qualify for the contest were simple.

The car had to have four rubber-tired wheels. It had to weigh no less than 2000 pounds. It had to have at least 100 cu. in. piston displacement. And it had to use gasoline that anybody could buy at a Shell service station.

After that, no holds were barred. The car that won used a standard carburetor from an old one-cylinder engine.

Tire pressures up to 110 pounds

Some contestants inflated their tires as high as 110 pounds per square inch to reduce road-wheel friction. Such crazy pressures would, of course, be quite unsafe under normal road conditions—and hideously uncomfortable, too.

But, under Shell's carefully controlled Marathon safety rules, the only ill effects were an embarrassing bruise or two.

Pressure problems for the champs

Dave Berry and Fred Schuette, who eventually set the existing record, had to be satisfied with something less spectacular in the tire department.

Their coupé's beat-up tires couldn't possibly take more than 50 pounds. But there was a helpful mileage dividend in the old, wood-spoked wheels.

They took tires that were nearly a yard in diameter. This moved the car forward an extraordinary 9½ feet at every revolution.

Muffled radiator and no fan

Many competitors went as far as to remove their engine's water pump and generator to save engine load. But Berry and Schuette ignored this refinement.

However, they did muffle their radiator completely to save heat.

As anybody knows, all cars go better when properly warmed up. But did you know that fast warm-up is specially provided for in today's Super Shell? It contains a gasoline ingredient called "Pentane Mix." This acts in your engine much like kindling acts in a log fire.

NET RESULT: Your car delivers top performance in a hurry.

One push and wheels spin for 30 minutes

Since the contest had nothing to do with wear, many liberties were taken with lubrication.

On the winning car—the wheel bearings were lubricated with light engine oil to reduce drag. It worked.

When the front wheels were jacked up and given an experimental push, they continued to spin for half an hour!

Of course, no Shell serviceman would ever approve of such liberties being taken with your own car's lubrication.

The champs' "on-and-off" driving

Shell's record was set in two trips over an 11.94 mile course. The run was almost a walk.

The winning car was accelerated to 20 miles per hour, at which point the driver cut his engine and coasted in neutral.

Only when the "speed" dropped below 5 miles per hour was the engine restarted and the cycle repeated.

All acceleration was done in high gear. There was little choice. All other gears were removed prior to the contest.

Serious—or scientific fun?

You already know the result.

But, since "on-and-off" driving is illegal on the public road—and since most marathon modifications are positively dangerous for normal use—you may be wondering if Shell's Mileage Marathon has any point.

Is it a serious test? Or is it merely a scientific picnic? The answer is—a bit of both.

Knowledge passed on

When Marathon Day rolls around at Shell, there is certainly a picnic atmosphere at the testing grounds.

But remember that the Marathon is only a climax to months of serious work. Not everybody sets a record. But every contestant learns a little more about the care and feeding of automobiles. Which, after all, is Shell's main job.

Eventually, every bit of this knowledge is passed on to you in the form of better products.

Today's Super Shell is a shining example. Thanks to continuous engine studies and mileage tests, Super Shell now contains a special mileage booster called Platformate.

Among Platformate's components are benzene, toluene and xylene. These three components alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline.

The lesson is obvious. The first thing you do to get extra mileage is to put extra energy into your fuel tank, by using today's Super Shell. Then, if you want even more mileage, take these tips.

1. Don't race your engine when stationary. Every revolution is pure waste unless it is taking you somewhere.

2. Avoid jack rabbit starts. They waste gasoline by holding automatic transmissions in low gear too long.

3. Drive at moderate speeds. Your car uses about 40 per cent more gasoline at 60 mph than at 35 mph.

4. Keep an even speed. Ragged driving uses fuel without using the power it generates.

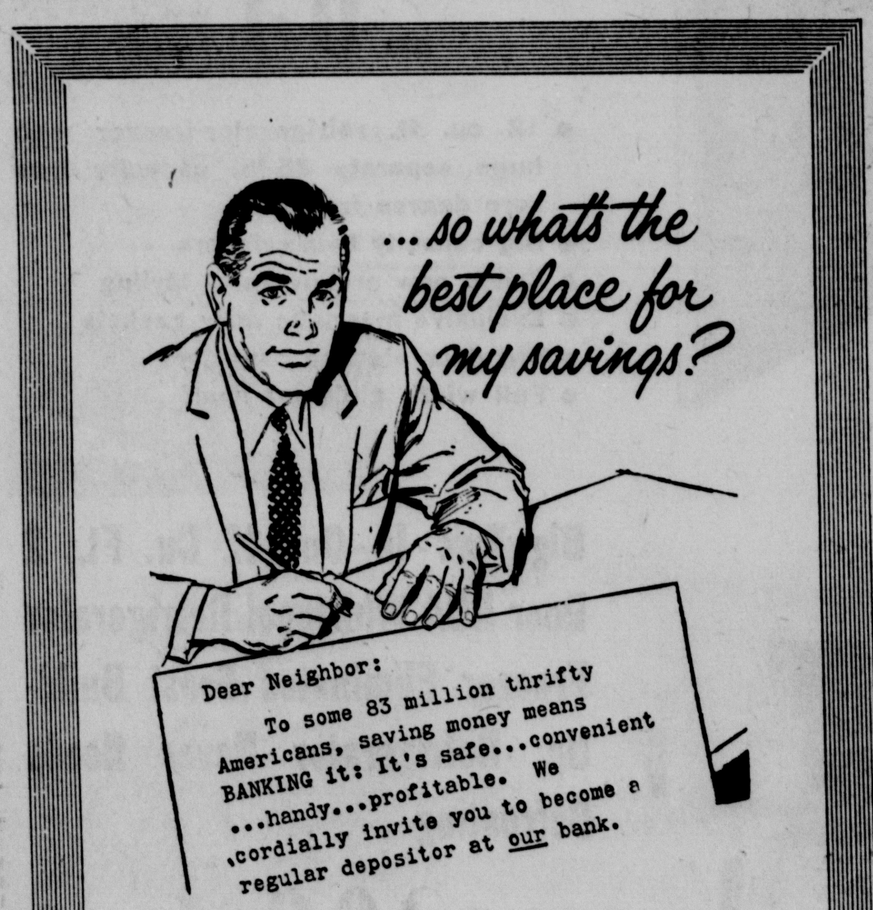

5. Keep tires up to their proper pressures. Soft tires soak up power like a blotter soaks up ink.

6. Get your Shell man to make these checks. Your carburetor should be adjusted periodically. Spark timing should be correct. Fuel filters and air cleaner should be clean. Brakes should be properly adjusted. And your thermostat must be in working order.

Use today's Super Shell and follow these suggestions. You may get as much as 30 extra miles per tankful. We can't guarantee this saving. But, unless you're a millionaire, it's worth thinking about.

Only when the "speed" dropped below 5 miles per hour was the engine restarted and the cycle repeated.

All acceleration was done in high gear. There was little choice. All other gears were removed prior to the contest.

Serious—or scientific fun?

You already know the result.

But, since "on-and-off" driving is illegal on the public road—and since most marathon modifications are positively dangerous for normal use—you may be wondering if Shell's Mileage Marathon has any point.

Is it a serious test? Or is it merely a scientific picnic? The answer is—a bit of both.

Knowledge passed on

When Marathon Day rolls around at Shell, there is certainly a picnic atmosphere at the testing grounds.

But remember that the Marathon is only a climax to months of serious work. Not everybody sets a record. But every contestant learns a little more about the care and feeding of automobiles. Which, after all, is Shell's main job.

Eventually, every bit of this knowledge is passed on to you in the form of better products.

Today's Super Shell is a shining example. Thanks to continuous engine studies and mileage tests, Super Shell now contains a special mileage booster called Platformate.

Among Platformate's components are benzene, toluene and xylene. These three components alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline.

The lesson is obvious. The first thing you do to get extra mileage is to put extra energy into your fuel tank, by using today's Super Shell. Then, if you want even more mileage, take these tips.

1. Don't race your engine when stationary. Every revolution is pure waste unless it is taking you somewhere.

2. Avoid jack rabbit starts. They waste gasoline by holding automatic transmissions in low gear too long.

3. Drive at moderate speeds. Your car uses about 40 per cent more gasoline at 60 mph than at 35 mph.

4. Keep an even speed. Ragged driving uses fuel without using the power it generates.

5. Keep tires up to their proper pressures. Soft tires soak up power like a blotter soaks up ink.

6. Get your Shell man to make these checks. Your carburetor should be adjusted periodically. Spark timing should be correct. Fuel filters and air cleaner should be clean. Brakes should be properly adjusted. And your thermostat must be in working order.

Use today's Super Shell and follow these suggestions. You may get as much as 30 extra miles per tankful. We can't guarantee this saving. But, unless you're a millionaire, it's worth thinking about.

This Week In Congress
by Rep. Charles Mathias

The Congress concluded the consideration of business on March 30 for the spring recess which ended at noon on April 10. I took advantage of the recess to make a fact-finding trip throughout the Sixth District as I had promised to do as often as possible during the campaign. The heavy schedule of committee meetings and legislation on the floor of the House had prevented my leaving Washington for an extended time until last week, and the trips which Albert Mullican of our Sixth District office in Hagerstown and I made were highly informative and have given me a good chance to hear the views of my constituents first hand. It was also very pleasant to get back to the Sixth District and to see so many of my friends in the five counties again.

Traveling by car, we visited all of the counties in the District, calling on people, holding office hours in Hagerstown and Cumberland, and always of course, sounding out opinion on legislative and governmental matters.

Spring seems to be coming slowly in Western Maryland, and the hand of winter was still apparent at such places as Backbone Mountain in Garrett County where trees were covered with ice last Tuesday. It is a paradox that the famous ski slopes are still covered with snow, but in Deep Creek Lake at the foot of the slope, spring activities included the overhauling of boats for summer recreation and sport.

The time spent in the Cumberland office gave me a chance to talk with many persons who were seeking information, employment and those who wished to talk about governmental matters. I was pleased to see many people on the street, and the activity along Baltimore Street indicated that some of the 861,000 increase in employment reported by the United States Department of Labor for the last thirty days had been in Western Maryland. I talked with several representatives of labor in Cumberland and we all agreed that a continued effort to increase employment is vital. The plans of the United States Park Service to repair the C&O Canal and towpath have already provided employment in this area for a number of Marylanders. It is good news to Washington County that the current government work at Fairchild Aircraft Corporation is being continued.

I also spent time in the Hagerstown office meeting constituents and making plans for the Western Maryland Economic Conference. I can now announce that the Conference will be held at the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club on April 24. I originally proposed this conference at an Economic Development Committee meeting called at my request in January. It is only part of a concerted and continued effort to stimulate and improve the economic conditions and to devise ways of attracting new industry to the Sixth District

The conference will be attended by approximately 100 persons representing all interested groups in the Sixth District. Government officials from cities and counties in the District will attend as well as state officials and area development experts from the United States Department of Commerce and from the state government. Representatives from outside of the state will report on what other areas of the country have done to revitalize their economy.

I am confident that this meeting will result in unification of purpose and the discovery of new ideas for relief from the high figures of unemployment in the Sixth District.

In Frederick County we visited farmers and sought out opinion of agricultural problems. Many farmers are disappointed with the passage of the administration's Emergency Feed Grains Program which I opposed in the House. This bill will further reduce the margin of profit of dairymen and livestock breeders and feeders and will also be reflected in higher food prices in the corner grocery store. As a member and shipper of one of our milk associations, I will personally have an opportunity to test and observe the operation of this bill along with other producers. There is also apprehension over other farm proposals.

I finished these trips to return to Washington on April 10. It was a pleasure for me to be able to see so many of you and to have time to fully discuss questions of interest to you. Although I am in the Sixth District several times each week attending meetings, I hope that I will be able to make another extended trip through the District in the very near future. Of course, my staff and I are always glad to hear from you or see you and I urge you to help me represent the Sixth District by your continued interest in contacting me on matters of interest or concern to you.

The earth's population is expected to double to five billion in the next two generations if the present birth rate continues.

Additional City Streets Included In Cleaning Program

Street Commissioner John J. Long said yesterday additional streets will be added to the experimental cleaning program effective Monday, April 24.

To be added to the schedule are Fairview Avenue, Gay Street, Union Street, Harrison Street, Elm Street and Fifth Street.

Already in the program are Mechanic and Centre Streets from the Narrows to Bedford Street; Arch Street and Grand Avenue; right side of Decatur Street; Park Street, Columbia Street, Walnut Street and Independence Street.

Under the plan, residents are asked to remove parked cars from the streets during specific hours.

Street Superintendent Ray Valentine said an hour schedule for the new streets would be announced at a later date.

The department this week did not get the cooperation it did during the first week of the experimental program which started April 4.

On Arch Street, for example, the number of cars parked during the cleaning hours went up to 41, double the number of a week ago. On Park Street, four blocks were clear but five cars were parked in the block between Central and Harrison, Valentine said.

The situation was also worse in the Walnut Street-Independence Street area.

"It is just a waste of time to try this program unless we get public cooperation and cars removed from the streets, Commissioner Long said.

The commissioner urged that residents of the streets under the program heed the signs which have been posted and remove cars during the hours stated.

Weather halted the program yesterday but it will be picked up on schedule today, weather permitting.

Memberships Open In Concert Group

Memberships are now being allotted to those who have not previously joined the Tri-State Community Concert Association, according to Mrs. Rudolph Steinberger, membership chairman.

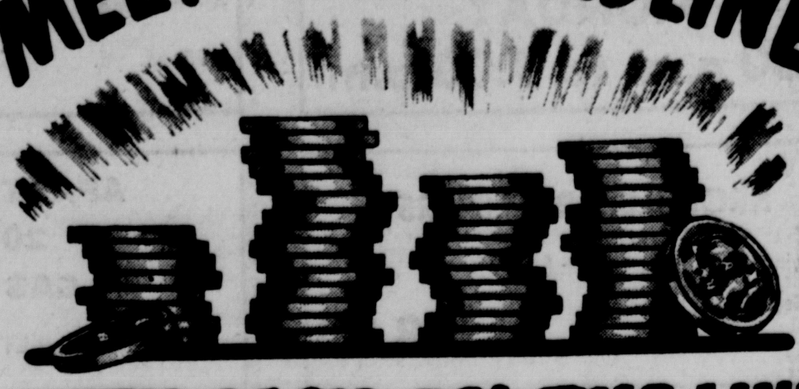

If all 1420 of last season's members renew, there will be less than 200 seats available for new members as the seating capacity of Fort Hill auditorium is limited to 1600. No memberships will be sold after 1 p.m. Saturday.

At least four attractions will be presented in 1961-62. Already booked are "The Barber of Seville" (in English) with 22 piece orchestra; the 92-piece Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra, and the Myra Kinch dance revue, "The Light Fantastic."

Alexander D. McKinnon, prominent Pittsburgh Home Builder, says—

"I switched to gas heat and sold this house"

This beautiful home in Pittsburgh's North Suburban Imperial Manor went begging for an owner for two years — while it had electric heat. There were many prospects, according to Mr. McKinnon, but no one would buy it while it had electric heat.

HOUSE EVENTUALLY RENTED—Mr. McKinnon was finally able to rent this home for a short time, from November 20 to December 30, 1959. The total electric bill for that period was a staggering $129.33. Mr. McKinnon's own gas-heated home — comparable in size but with far less insulation than is required for an electrically heated home — averages $124 for an ENTIRE YEAR for gas heating and water heating.

HEATING EMPTY HOUSE IS COSTLY — Except for the short time the house was rented, Mr. McKinnon kept the unoccupied house at the lowest thermostat setting — 55 degrees — to prevent pipe freezing. Monthly costs for this unbearably cold "heat" varied from $21 during not-so-cold winter months to an unbelievable $47 during the coldest!

SWITCHED TO GAS; SOLD HOME—Mr. McKinnon installed gas heat in this home in the spring of 1960 and easily sold it shortly afterwards. "I guess I can charge electric heat up to experience," says Mr. McKinnon. "You can be sure I'll never build another house with electric heat."

HERE'S PROOF of the high cost of electric heating. Here are exact costs for this house, taken directly from monthly electric bills for the 1959-1960 heating season.*

During the time the house was unoccupied and thermostat was kept at 55°: October, 1959—$4.20; November, 1959 — $29.24. Home occupied from November 20 through December 30; $129.33 (total electric consumption). Home vacant during rest of season, kept at 55°: January, 1960—$47.39; February, 1960 — $21.09; March, 1960 — $41.39; April, 1960 — $6.71.

*Figures on record

COMPARE THE COST of electric heat and gas heat in this same house. Based on the above figures . . . if the house had been occupied during the entire, normal heating season (October through April) the calculated electric and gas heating costs would have been:

ELECTRIC HEATING COSTS	$500.16
GAS HEATING COSTS	$117.30
Electric heat costs four times as much as gas heat
SAVINGS WITH GAS	$382.86

WHEN YOU BUILD OR BUY make sure your heating system is not only modern, automatic, clean and safe . . . but truly economical. Only gas gives you all these important benefits.

When is it smart to throw children's shoes away?

You should discard your child's shoes when they are outgrown—no matter how good they still look.

Here's why: The American Foot Health Foundation* reports that three out of four school children have correctable foot defects. And the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare says a big cause is shoes that don't fit.

To help you guard your youngsters against the possible effects of outgrown shoes, child foot-health experts have established the following intervals for shoe size check-ups:

Age	Check-up Interval
Under six	four to eight weeks
Between six and 12	eight to 16 weeks
Between 12 and 15	four months

When it's time for a check-up, bring your child in. If your youngsters' shoes fit the way they should, we will say so. If they don't, we'll tell you why. We fit your youngsters using the Buster Brown 6-Point Fitting Plan which assures proper fit at all points—big toe, little toe, ball of foot, and heel—and allows just the right amount of growing room.

And while Buster Brown Shoes cost little more, you can be sure of the quality materials and workmanship that go into every pair of Buster Brown Shoes—quality we believe you want for your youngsters. A trip to our store will show you why three generations of mothers and youngsters have come to trust Buster Brown.

Additional City Streets Included In Cleaning Program

Street Commissioner John J. Long said yesterday additional streets will be added to the experimental cleaning program effective Monday, April 24.

To be added to the schedule are Fairview Avenue, Gay Street, Union Street, Harrison Street, Elm Street and Fifth Street.

Already in the program are Mechanic and Centre Streets from the Narrows to Bedford Street; Arch Street and Grand Avenue; right side of Decatur Street; Park Street, Columbia Street, Walnut Street and Independence Street.

Under the plan, residents are asked to remove parked cars from the streets during specific hours.

Street Superintendent Ray Valentine said an hour schedule for the new streets would be announced at a later date.

The department this week did not get the cooperation it did during the first week of the experimental program which started April 4.

On Arch Street, for example, the number of cars parked during the cleaning hours went up to 41, double the number of a week ago. On Park Street, four blocks were clear but five cars were parked in the block between Central and Harrison, Valentine said.

The situation was also worse in the Walnut Street-Independence Street area.

"It is just a waste of time to try this program unless we get public cooperation and cars removed from the streets," Commissioner Long said.

The commissioner urged that residents of the streets under the program heed the signs which have been posted and remove cars during the hours stated.

Weather halted the program yesterday but it will be picked up on schedule today, weather permitting.

Memberships Open In Concert Group

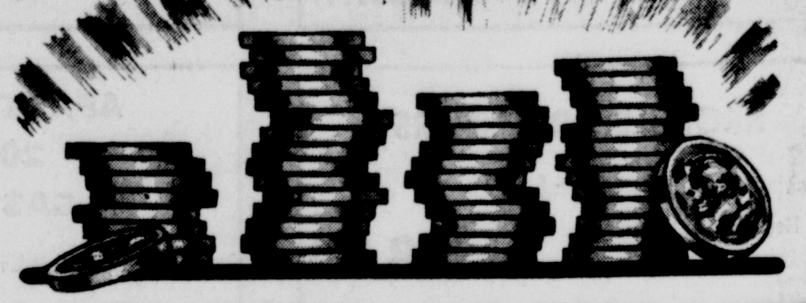

Memberships are now being allotted to those who have not previously joined the Tri-State Community Concert Association, according to Mrs. Rudolph Steinberger, membership chairman.

If all 1420 of last season's members renew, there will be less than 200 seats available for new members as the seating capacity of Fort Hill auditorium is limited to 1000. No memberships will be sold after 1 p.m. Saturday.

At least four attractions will be presented in 1961-62. Already booked are "The Barber of Seville" (in English) with 22 piece orchestra; the 92-piece Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra, and the Myra Kinch dance revue, "The Light Fantastic."

Alexander D. McKinnon, prominent Pittsburgh Home Builder, says—

"I switched to gas heat and sold this house"

This beautiful home in Pittsburgh's North Suburban Imperial Manor went begging for an owner for two years — while it had electric heat. There were many prospects, according to Mr. McKinnon, but no one would buy it while it had electric heat.

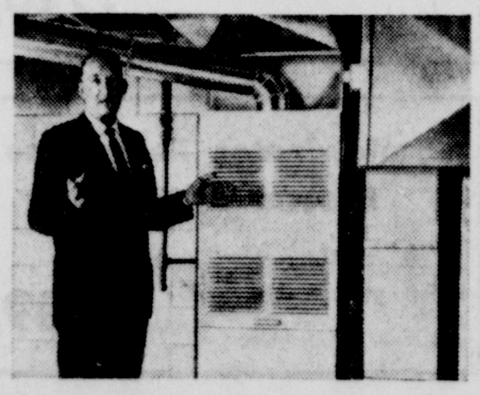

HOUSE EVENTUALLY RENTED—Mr. McKinnon was finally able to rent this home for a short time, from November 20 to December 30, 1959. The total electric bill for that period was a staggering $129.33. Mr. McKinnon's own gas-heated home — comparable in size but with far less insulation than is required for an electrically heated home — averages $124 for an ENTIRE YEAR for gas heating and water heating.

HEATING EMPTY HOUSE IS COSTLY — Except for the short time the house was rented, Mr. McKinnon kept the unoccupied house at the lowest thermostat setting — 55 degrees — to prevent pipe freezing. Monthly costs for this unbearably cold "heat" varied from $21 during not-so-cold winter months to an unbelievable $47 during the coldest!

HERE'S PROOF of the high cost of electric heating. Here are exact costs for this house, taken directly from monthly electric bills for the 1959-1960 heating season.*

During the time the house was unoccupied and thermostat was kept at 55°: October, 1959—$4.20; November, 1959 — $29.24. Home occupied from November 20 through December 30; $129.33 (total electric consumption). Home vacant during rest of season, kept at 55°: January, 1960—$47.39; February, 1960 — $21.09; March, 1960 — $41.39; April, 1960 — $6.71.

*Figures on record

SWITCHED TO GAS; SOLD HOME—Mr. McKinnon installed gas heat in this home in the spring of 1960 and easily sold it shortly afterwards. "I guess I can charge electric heat up to experience," says Mr. McKinnon. "You can be sure I'll never build another house with electric heat."

COMPARE THE COST of electric heat and gas heat in this same house. Based on the above figures . . . if the house had been occupied during the entire, normal heating season (October through April) the calculated electric and gas heating costs would have been:

ELECTRIC HEATING COSTS	$500.16
GAS HEATING COSTS	$117.30
Electric heat costs four times as much as gas heat
SAVINGS WITH GAS	$382.86

WHEN YOU BUILD OR BUY make sure your heating system is not only modern, automatic, clean and safe . . . but truly economical. Only gas gives you all these important benefits.

When is it smart to throw children's shoes away?

You should discard your child's shoes when they are outgrown—no matter how good they still look.

Here's why: The American Foot Health Foundation* reports that three out of four school children have correctable foot defects. And the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare says a big cause is shoes that don't fit.

To help you guard your youngsters against the possible effects of outgrown shoes, child foot-health experts have established the following intervals for shoe size check-ups:

Age	Check-up interval
Under six	four to eight weeks
Between six and 12	eight to 16 weeks
Between 12 and 15	four months

When it's time for a check-up, bring your child in. If your youngsters' shoes fit the way they should, we will say so. If they don't, we'll tell you why. We fit your youngsters using the Buster Brown 6-Point Fitting Plan which assures proper fit at all points—big toe, little toe, ball of foot, and heel—and allows just the right amount of growing room.

And while Buster Brown Shoes cost little more, you can be sure of the quality materials and workmanship that go into every pair of Buster Brown Shoes—quality we believe you want for your youngsters. A trip to our store will show you why three generations of mothers and youngsters have come to trust Buster Brown.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	2 ♦	2 NT	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Six of ♦

A fine bit of cooperation by the defense scuttled declarer's hopes in today's hand.

The bidding was reasonable, though South might well have chosen to double East's two diamond overacil. Even opposite a partner who may have opened on minimum values, a 500 point penalty appears to be at hand. South merely has to lead a third round of hearts early so that North can put his king of diamonds to good use. The uppercut will establish South's eight of diamonds as a second trump trick.

Against South's three no trump contract, West dutifully opened the six of diamonds, and dummy's king fell to the ace. From the bidding it was clear to East that declarer must have a sure diamond stopper in the form of a four card suit headed by the jack. It would be necessary therefore to concede a trick to South in order to establish the suit.

As a further conjecture, East mentally assigned the king of clubs to his partner for, unless West held that card, declarer would surely have nine running tricks, and besides East would have no means of obtaining the lead to run his suit unless the queen of clubs was an entry card.

After taking the first trick with the ace of diamonds East cashed the queen and continued with the nine. Inasmuch as the ten and nine are equals, he hoped to suggest to his partner that his card of reentry was in lower ranking suit. Whether or not West actually drew his partner's play is not certain, but it was very apparent to him that unless East had the guarded queen of clubs there was no hope for the defenders. Accordingly on the third round of diamonds, West discarded the king of clubs.

Declarer was helpless, since clubs had to be developed. There was no way he could prevent East from getting in with the queen of clubs to run the diamonds and register a two trick set. Without West's key discard South would have had an easy road to travel, for East would have been taken out of the play. On the low club lead West's king is permitted to hold as dummy's suit becomes established.

City Clean-Up Drive May 1

Street Commissioner John J. Long announced yesterday that the annual "Clean-up, Fix-up, Paint-up Week" will begin here Monday, May 1.

Full details will be announced later but Long said Street Departments trucks and workers once again will make a citywide trash and debris collection during that week.

This will give residents a chance to get rid of unwanted materials stored in homes or accumulated during the winter, Long said.

Long said the department has received a number of calls concerning this year's clean-up drive.

Local Girls Win Kiwanis Speech Contest

Miss Diane Hill, a senior at Fort Hill High School, and Miss Irene Costello, an Allegany High School senior, have been selected winners in their respective intra-school speaking contests sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

Miss Hill, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Hill, of 517 Louisiana Avenue, was chosen the winner among 12 contestants in the English classes at the school. She is a student in Miss Nellie Willison's English class.

Editor-in-chief of "The Sentinel," the Fort Hill newspaper, for the past two years, Miss Hill also is active in dramatics.

She will represent her school when delivering her speech before members of the Kiwanis Club at a club meeting next Thursday.

Miss Costello, in her first year at Allegany after having come here from Belmont, N. C., where she attended Sacret Heart Academy, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Costello, of 419 Dunbar Drive.

She also will deliver her speech to members of the Kiwanis Club.

Miss Costello is a member of the National Honor Society at Allegany.

All speakers in the contest followed the same topic, "Cumberland's Role in the Civil War."

Judges at Fort Hill were Victor D. Heisey, principal; Miss Gertrude Rank, librarian, and Mrs. Naomi Bennett, assistant librarian. Allegany High judges were Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard and Mrs. Mary Hinze, English teachers, and Mrs. Berenice Rogers, Spanish teacher.

The Kiwanis Club conducts the contest at Fort Hill and Allegany High School, with competition limited to within the schools themselves. There is no inter-school competition.

Man Sentenced In Assault Case

Jack R. Smith, a former resident, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction at a hearing yesterday before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt on a charge of assaulting a police officer.

Smith was arrested Wednesday on charges of being drunk and disorderly and committed the assault while he was being taken to the cell block at Police Headquarters. According to testimony at the hearing, Smith seized the night stick of an officer and struck another policeman several times on the arms and legs. A "slapjack" was used to subdue him, police said.

Recently employed in Silver Spring, Smith was fined $50 on each of the charges preferred in Police Court.

Banking Group To Discuss Problems Here April 20

The annual meeting of Group 1, Allegany and Garrett Counties of the Maryland Bankers Association, will be held Thursday, April 20, at 4:30 p.m. at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

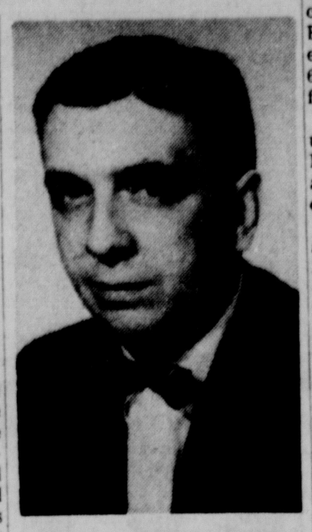

Following a business session, committee reports and election of officers a dinner will be served at 6 p.m.

Paul D. Lagomarcino, Washington, counsel for the Committee on Savings and Loan Associations of the Independent Bankers' Association, will lead a discussion on the "competitive problems facing the commercial banker today".

This discussion will be held during the afternoon session. The bankers group has scheduled the speaker as they realize the growing competition which commercial bankers receive from savings and loan associations and credit unions for savings deposits and other types of banking business.

Lagomarcino is a graduate of the University of Iowa and George Washington University. He served in the Fifth Air Force during World War II in the Pacific theater of war.

He has taught law, was executive secretary of the Bar Association of Erie (Pa.) County, was a consultant of the New York Law Revision Commission, consultant of the New York State Bankers Association, and editor of the "Bulletin" of the Erie bar group. He has written numerous articles on banking laws.

PAUL D. LAGOMARCINO

Hugh D. Shires, vice president and trust officer of the First National Bank and Trust Company, is chairman of Group 1. David R. Willets, assistant cashier of the Frostburg National Bank, is chairman, and Marcus A. Naughton, president of the Cumberland Savings Bank, is secretary- treasurer.

Lutheran Synod To Meet Today

The Maryland Synod of the Lutheran Church will sponsor a meeting at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, corner Washington and Smallwood streets, today from 6:30 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Purpose of the session is to instruct and illustrate work of Lutheran World Action — the program of world service instituted during World War I to help refugees, homeless and people displaced or unsettled by world tensions.

Speaker will be Rev. Rollin G. Shaffer, assistant director of Lutheran World Action for the National Lutheran Council who has been in charge of the promotional program of LWA since 1948. He is from Nutley, N. J.

Rev. John F. Sammel, host pastor and member of the Maryland Synod LWA Committee, will be moderator.

The program will include a message from the speaker, films depicting the worldwide relief program of the church as it applies to Africa, Korea, Hong Kong, Latin America, Palestine and other depressed areas.

In attendance will be pastors, lay leaders, adults and youth of St. John's, St. Luke's, St. Paul's churches, all of Cumberland, and St. Paul's Church of Frostburg.

A dinner will be served in Fellowship Hall at 6:30 p. m. by Circle 5 of the United Lutheran Church Women.

Holiday Monday To Enable Students To See Elks Show

A public school holiday Monday is expected to boost matinee receipts of "Annie Get Your Gun," Broadway musical to be presented by Cumberland Elks Lodge 63 for the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

The Irving Berlin show will get underway at 2:30 p. m. in the Maryland Theater for students at a reduced rate, according to Joseph F. Stakem, general chairman.

Tickets for students will be available from noon to 2 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. through Sunday in the lobby of the Second National Bank, and Monday at 1:15 p. m. at the theater, Stakem said.

Assisting Stakem with arrangements is John H. Mosner who stated:

"Thousands of citizens of Allegany County have never seen a Broadway musical, especially the younger generation. Realizing this, the Elks will make it possible for all high school students to attend a matinee."

Other performances are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday at 8:15 p. m.

During the past 14 years the Elks lodge has contributed $85,000 to the league through benefit shows. Last year's "Oklahoma" netted $3,350.

Stakem said ticket sales for the show continue at a brisk pace. "However," he stated, "good seats are still available."

Public schools will be closed Monday for the annual conference of Allegany County teachers at Allegany High School.

Cash incomes of more than $4,000 a year are enjoyed by slightly more than one-half of all United States families.

Man Sentenced In Assault Case

Jack R. Smith, a former resident, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction at a hearing yesterday before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt on a charge of assaulting a police officer.

Smith was arrested Wednesday on charges of being drunk and disorderly and committed the assault while he was being taken to the cell block at Police Headquarters. According to testimony at the hearing, Smith seized the night stick of an officer and struck another policeman several times on the arms and legs. A "slapjack" was used to subdue him, police said.

Recently employed in Silver Spring, Smith was fined $50 on each of the charges preferred in Police Court.

Banking Group To Discuss Problems Here April 20

The annual meeting of Group 1, Allegany and Garrett Counties of the Maryland Bankers Association, will be held Thursday, April 20, at 4:30 p.m. at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

Following a business session, committee reports and election of officers a dinner will be served at 6 p.m.

Paul D. Lagomarcino, Washington, counsel for the Committee on Savings and Loan Associations of the Independent Bankers' Association, will lead a discussion on the "competitive problems facing the commercial banker today".

This discussion will be held during the afternoon session. The bankers group has scheduled the speaker as they realize the growing competition which commercial bankers receive from savings and loan associations and credit unions for savings deposits and other types of banking business.

Lagomarcino is a graduate of the University of Iowa and George Washington University. He served in the Fifth Air Force during World War II in the Pacific theater of war.

He has taught law, was executive secretary of the Bar Association of Erie (Pa.) County, was a consultant of the New York Law Revision Commission, consultant of the New York State Bankers Association, and editor of the "Bulletin" of the Erie bar group. He has written numerous articles on banking laws.

PAUL D. LAGOMARCINO

Hugh D. Shires, vice president and trust officer of the First National Bank and Trust Company, is chairman of Group 1. David R. Willets, assistant cashier of the Frostburg National Bank, is chairman, and Marcus A. Naughton, president of the Cumberland Savings Bank, is secretary- treasurer.

Do you know the shape of your face?

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

An Attractive Face Can Be Acquired

I bet if I asked you, not many of you could accurately tell me what shape face you have. Yet this is fundamental information and the key to what make-up and hairdo you should use and what hat will be most becoming.

Examine your face now — what shape would you say it is? To be accurate, draw a frame about 6" x 9" with soap on your bathroom or bedroom door mirror. "Skin" your hair back, and then be sure and stand until your head is enclosed in the "frame." Take a look at yourself and then compare your answer with the diagrams in today's illustration.

1. OVAL — Your face forms a perfect ellipse inside the frame. Your forehead is slightly wider than your chin. Lucky you, with the "ideal" face. You can wear any hair style and are the only type that can successfully wear a center part.

2. ROUND — Your contours form a circle in contradiction to every line of the frame. It is not too much longer than it is broad. Don't wear a cupid shape mouth, round curls, round spotty rouge application or any circular patterns.

3. SQUARE — The line of your face follows the frame, but falls short of it in length. Your jawbone has an angular form and you have a square chin. To soften any angular outlines or heavy - jawed look, use a dip in the forehead when selecting a new hairdo. Define the lips and eyebrows. No small mouth for you — a full jaw will be apparently reduced when the mouth is made up to its fullest extremity of width. Here is a make-up trick — use a slightly darker foundation along the outer edges of your jaws, blending carefully into your regular foundation.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

With the casual air of a professional confidence man, Congress this week will probably give final approval to the so-called Depressed Areas Bill. Perhaps the most "distressing" aspect of this legislation is that it will do more harm than good.

All the federal loans, grants and free advice in the world will not bring new industry to any area unless the president of an American corporation decides that in the long run his business will prosper there. To undertake an artificially created, government-sponsored program to induce industries to locate in areas intrinsically unsuited for such activity would throw a monkey wrench into the nation's economic machinery.

This danger was demonstrated on the Eastern Shore of Maryland only a month ago when an Elkton company announced that after 14 years it was moving to a "depressed area" in upstate New York, which has offered to pay for the moving operations and a brand new building. The allegedly strong "anti-pirating" clause of the bill may prevent such shifts, and then again it may not.

The problem of depressed areas should be focused on our American business leaders. They should be given the tools needed to solve this most critical issue. For example, business should be freed of antiquated tax depreciation schedules which now require the continued use of obsolete and inadequate facilities. Government expenditures should be reduced, rather than increased, with the savings passed on to corporations and individuals. These savings would provide more capital for plant expansion by companies and more purchasing power for individuals.

Another risk in the Depressed Areas Bill lies in the false security it would encourage. Many people in depressed areas who have established potentially successful redevelopment programs may now look on this legislation as a cure-all. There may also be a lessening of local responsibility and desire to look after one's own interest and to satisfy problems at the state and local levels.

The so-called Area Redevelopment Act of 1961 strikes at the very heart of the principle of federal versus local government. It would establish the precedent that Washington, D. C. is responsible for the well-being of every economic area. Why? Because this year's depressed area may be next year's prosperous area, and vice versa. The Depressed Areas Bill is not only misleading and misdirected but an invitation to a controlled economy with the federal government at the controls. It requires close surveillance and further discussion.

Colburn E. Hooten was speaker at the National Honor Society Induction ceremony of Allegany High School Tuesday, when 30 juniors and six seniors became members of the organization.

Hooten is assistant secretary for student services of the National Honor Society.

The ceremony took place at an assembly for senior high students. Opening remarks were given by Richard Tosh, president of the Allegany chapter. Caroline Lusby, chairman of the assembly, introduced the speaker. New members were welcomed by Hooten and congratulated by Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal.

To qualify for the Honor Society, a student must have a 3 point average if grades are C or better or a 3.2 average if a D appears as a semester or final grade. If a subject is dropped after receiving an E, the student is disqualified.

Grades considered for juniors are final grades of the sophomore year and first semester grades of the junior year. Grades considered for seniors are the same plus final grades of the junior year and first semester grades of the senior year.

A student must also carry four majors. Subjects considered are those used in the office to determine the rank in class.

Juniors must attend Allegany at least two semesters. Seniors must attend at least one semester. Grades earned in any sending school accredited by a regional association of secondary education are considered.

Members of the National Honor Society advisory board are: Dr. Haines, Foy A. Curry, Miss Claire Livesay, Mrs. Geraldine Mann, Miss Betsy Rankin, George Conway, John Snyder and Mrs. Mary Hinze, chairmen.

There are approximately 27 acres of roof over the Palace of Versailles.

They're Volunteering For The Services

U. S. Defense Department has reduced the April draft call to 1,500 men, the smallest since the Korean War started. The country's armed forces are not being cut back. The Defense Department doesn't have any place to put more draftees because so many young men are enlisting in the different branches of the service.

The Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps already have as many men as they can handle. All of April's 1,500 draftees will be assigned to the Army. And the Army has been running several thousand over its authorized limit.

Drafting only 1,500 men in the entire United States in one month makes the draft not much more than a token operation. Practically speaking, the U. S. now has returned to a volunteer defense establishment.

One explanation for the well-filled ranks is that the recession has encouraged re-enlistments. Many men, having finished their enlistments and found that jobs are scarce, are going back into the service. This is especially true of those who have won the higher ratings. Also, young men who are unemployed are volunteering in larger numbers than usual.

Meanwhile the available places in the Women's Army Corps are being filled. In this case the snappy new green uniform with a lightly fitted jacket and a slimmer skirt may be a big part of the lure.

In any case, American youths are entering the armed forces in such great numbers that the draft is no longer the important source of manpower it once was.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The First Hundred Days

It is customary, in this country, where Administrations can be changed, every four years, to give an incoming President an opportunity to get started without too much opposition. Generally, he appoints to his Cabinet whomever he chooses. He is given time to acquaint himself with public affairs, the American people generously assuming that a President needs to learn the intimacies of his job.

President John Kennedy has been treated better than most Presidents have been by the press, by Congress and by the opposition party, the Republican Party. This is undoubtedly due to his charming personality, his swift approach to the problems which he faces, the delightful characters of his wife and daughter, to the relief from the cold and distant personality which President Eisenhower chose to present to his people.

Now, the first 100 days are reaching their close. Jack Kennedy is now a full-fledged President, standing on his own, to be criticized and even attacked, as is customary in our country. I think President Kennedy will have a longer period of respite than most Presidents have had because the times are so perilous and many of the issues are hardly understood by the American people.

How much do most of us really understand of the piling up of issues in the Congo, in Laos, in South Vietnam, in Peking, in Moscow? More and more our people are becoming conscious of the fact that some time in the past, events have occurred and agreements have been made which are damaging to the United States. Young men and women who are now coming of age, wonder why they are being burdened by the errors of their elders. They do not remember Roosevelt or much about Truman. They are not mystified by the amazing statesmen of World War II, the great Churchill, the mysterious Stalin, the wicked Hitler, the gross Mussolini. These are names like Julius Caesar or Napoleon or even Genghis Khan. They see these names in books but they do not feel the impress of their personalities.

They are not astounded by the atom bomb or the hydrogen bomb. Many of them have studied sufficient science to know all about such toys. They take things in their stride that we elders never heard about. They read symbols which are gibberish to us. The nature of their education has changed.

Do they know more? That depends upon what one means by the word, know, and that brings us back to President Jack Kennedy. He is closer to the younger generations than almost any President has been. This gives him an enormous advantage over a man like Eisenhower who was an elderly gentleman of the generation of World War II. Kennedy is current. Each generation approaches identical problems differently and Kennedy approaches current problems in closer consonance to his own generation. His is bound to be a very different approach from that of either Eisenhower or Truman.

Thus, some of Kennedy's attitudes are shocking to an older generation, but that does not matter. What is significant are the results of his thinking and his actions. The Kennedy-Macmillan Conferences could not have been anything like the Roosevelt-Churchill Conferences, say, at Quebec. Roosevelt tended to be a flatterer; Churchill was a salesman, selling the glories of the British Empire for full American support. Churchill did an amazingly good job for his country which will ever honor him for his success. Jack Kennedy is not likely ever to make such a deal as Roosevelt made at Teheran. Jack Kennedy will probably develop into a nationalist as he grows in the Presidency.

During the first 100 days there have been many excursions and alarms but it is too early to see any results of all the activity. In times like these, the course of events is never swift, although patience and reticence often become defeat. On the other hand, we are so close to a shooting war with the Soviet Universal State, that the President wants to be sure that should war come. it is war by choice, not war by accident. This is one of President Kennedy's major problems, as he is being teased into starting a fight, several theaters being offered him at once. The Russians still hold the initiative and it needs to be taken from them. That will be the task of the next hundred days.

Individual Americans Working To Restore Good Neighbor Policy

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — As President Kennedy calls the nation's attention to Pan American Day today he will find all sorts of individual Americans, big and little, anxious to help him restore the good neighbor policy.

Acting on his inauguration plea, "Don't ask what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country," they have started, on their own, to do all sorts of things to restore Pan American friendship.

Down in High Point, N. C., Dr. N. M. Harrison conceived the idea of a "Friendship Truck Caravan" to collect food and clothing through the Kiwanis Clubs, for Cuban refugees. And South Florida Council No. 84 of the Boy Scouts has started to work with the boys who have fled from Cuba with their families.

"It is not for these political exiles alone that we must rise to meet the challenge," say Scouts in an official resolution, "it is for our community, for it is to stimulate awareness in the youth of our community."

And from Santa Paula, Calif., comes a letter from the students in Room 4 of the Isbell School enclosing a check for $8.73 for the University of the Americas.

"We first heard about the university through your column which our teacher read aloud to us," wrote the youngsters of the Isbell School. "We collected the money in two ways: one of which was ,to sell marbles, the other was to donate."

The letter is signed by 32 members of Room 4.

I strongly suspect that the nickels and dimes of these youngsters who gave up their lunch money, plus the hard work of the Kiwanis Clubs of North Carolina and that of the Boy Scouts of Southern Florida and the efforts of various others, will be more effective in winning friends in places where we need friends than a month of propaganda radio broadcasts beamed from official Washington.

University Of The Americas

Pan American Day might be a good time to take stock of the idea previously discussed in this column of establishing a University of the Americas to utilize the exiled professors, doctors, and lawyers now working as bellhops and busboys in Miami hotels, and thus create a permanent monument to the cultural freedoms once enjoyed at the University of Havana.

President Kennedy has acted on this idea with enthusiastic vigor and authorized his Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, Abe Ribicoff, to make a survey of the situation. Gov. Ribicoff went to Miami with two assistants, and walked all over the area like a newspaperman covering a story. He interviewed refugees, buttonholed social workers, talked to education experts.

As a result, he worked out a provisional arrangement with the University of Miami for a temporary University of the Americas which would take in university students who have fled from Havana, and take advantage of the talents of Cuban refugee professors.

However, the major goal of a permanent University of the Americas still remains.

Future relations between the Americas are so important that we could easily support three Universities of the Americas—one in North America, one in Central America, one in South America. There could be an interchange of professors, with students taking bilingual courses in English and Spanish and spending a year in each of the three universities.

This is the kind of monument to Pan American friendship which can make the Good Neighbor Policy blossom once again.

Anti-Castro Strategy

The most important point which Cuban farmers and workmen will be watching in the coming drive against Fidel Castro is whether the Castro reforms are to be abolished.

If the big foreign estates are to be returned to their owners and if the bathing beaches are to be reserved once again for the wealthy elite of Havana, then the uprising against Castro won't get much support from inside Cuba.

If, on the other hand, it's announced that the better reforms of Castro will remain, after the pattern of the Mexican Revolution, which paid for expropriated property, then the anti-Castro movement will get support.

What the Cuban exiles must also remember is that Castro is a past master at waging guerrilla war. He knows what French military studies have shown in French Indo-China and Algeria—that 30,000 rebels can pin down 500,000 trained French troops. This was why when Castro faced 2,000 guerrilla fighters in Eastern Cuba recently he sent 40,000 militiamen to wipe them out—and caught half.

On top of guerrilla warfare, the Communists have added something else — revolutionary warfare. This consists of blowing up bridges and slitting sentries' throats—for an ideology. This is why Castro, two years ago, with only a handful of men, was able to defeat the trained 25,000-man army of President Batista.

And to oust Castro today, the opposition needs an ideology just as passionate, but more dedicated to permanent human freedoms.

JFK's Tax Message May Affect His Popularity

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Within a few days the American people will get for the first time some basic information which will enable them to begin to make up their minds whether or not they like their new President.

For what has happened thus far hasn't really been decisive. It doesn't matter much whether the Kennedy household hires a French chef or whether the "Peace Corps" is going to convert native Africans to civilization. What does matter is whether the federal government is going to collect more tax money out of the worker's take-home pay.

The President is planning to send his tax message to Congress next week. It has been delayed for unexplained reasons, though it is widely suspected that the drafts of the message proposed by the President's "task forces" and advisers — the "theoretical" boys — have run into some penetrating criticism from members of Congress — the "practical" boys.

It's always wise to have a lot of idea men around. Perhaps, however, the comment of Prime Minister Macmillan in a speech in Britain not long ago apropos of the Socialist Labor Party is worth repeating as applicable to the current situation in this country. Mr. Macmillan said the Socialists have had some "original and sound ideas," but the trouble is that some of the ideas that are original are not sound and some of the sound ideas are not original.

Tax rates and regulations are at present a complicated affair that cannot be defended as either equitable or productive of adequate tax revenues. There isn't, to be sure, any tax system that will yield enough revenue for the "spenders." But the important fact today about new taxes is not whether they are going to be made more equitable as between different classes of taxpayers, but whether forthcoming changes will disrupt the economic stability of the country for a long time to come. Far from being a cure for recession, tax changes can prolong a recession by producing a disequilibrium in the economy.

The average citizen will be affected in many ways and particularly in his purchasing power. It seems ironical that, with all the talk about increasing consumer power to buy, the government should be considering a tax program that will curtail incomes for many people and many businesses.

Take, for instance, the social security taxes which affect almost everybody. Some will go up in a few months, and some will be further increased at the end of next year. If Congress goes ahead with pension changes and medical care for the aged, the social security taxes on the whole program will go up by nearly 33 per cent on a person who makes a little less than $90 a week. Thus, the man who earns $4,800 a year or more now pays $144 a year in social security taxes, but the amount the federal government will take from him will go up to $193.75. This means that the employer and the employe together will pay nearly $100 a year more than they do now. This may subtract billions of dollars in purchasing power.

Perhaps the most irritating change is coming in the plan to withhold taxes on interest and dividends at the source. Low-income persons, especially retired people who do not have much income, will find their regular monthly stipend decreased. Also, if the companies have withheld more than later will be found due in taxes on certain individuals, a lot of red tape and plenty of time will be necessary before the money improperly collected will be refunded. Likewise, this means more trouble and expense for the businesses concerned. It is not clear as yet whether this procedure will apply to interest on savings accounts, but it does mean a lot more work without recompense.

There's another item that will cause much controversy. It is the proposal to remove the limited tax credit on dividends. The argument against full taxation of dividends is that the citizen is taxed doubly if he puts his money in a corporation but not if it is invested in a partnership or a proprietorship. The argument being made here in favor of it is that "double taxation" is a myth.

Another plan of the administration calls for an increase in certain taxes which will add to the cost of tires, tubes and the like. This isn't going to help business, either.

There are, to be sure, some "tax havens" that need correction, such as those enjoyed abroad by individuals who stay there for relatively brief intervals and get certain benefits anyway. Also, there is need to eliminate abuses in what is defined as "ordinary and necessary expenses" in business. But such a reform process tends to upset many established practices that have long been considered legitimate and equitable but which the government, in its zest for more tax collections, feels it will have to modify.

All this adds up to painful change—an impact on the economy which may not be felt for some months but would appear to be inevitable.

Once the tax message of the President is sent to Congress, it will be interesting to see what happens to the popularity curve of the President in the Gallup Poll.

TRAINING — At least one official of the "New Frontier" is determined to learn what his job is all about, even if he has to do it the hard way.

Richard J. Murphy, newly-appointed assistant postmaster general, realized he knew little about the government department he was supposed to help run. But now he is impressed, even awed by the effort put out by the unsung postman.

The other morning, Murphy arose at 4:15 a.m. and reported for duty at a Washington, D.C. post office. He joined, at random, a postman who was about to start his day's work, participated in the sorting of mail—some 10 pouches of 35 pounds each — and then walked the long 10 miles with the carrier.

Murphy found that the walk wasn't too tiring of itself, but the interminable climbing o' stairs was. He found a lot of friendly people, a few unfriendly dogs, but in general a new world of goodwill being built up by the individual carriers.

Murphy has also ridden a railway mail car and spent a night in a New York post office. Out of all this, Murphy declares: "If there's one thing I'm sure of it's that the postman earns every cent we pay him."

DUMBEST THIEF—We usually think of thieves as individuals who consider themselves "clever" enough to get by without working. However, every once in a while one of them performs in such an extraordinarily stupid manner as to confirm our basic judgment that the average run-of-mine thief is far from "smart."

This happened recently in Washington. A young man walked into a photographic studio, had his picture taken, paid for it, then stuck up the proprietor for $40. All the proprietor had to do was to take the negative from his camera and turn it over to the local police, providing perfect identification. Needless to say, the youth was picked up in short order.

The artist was busy in his room at the Ocean View Hotel. He had a pretty good view of Kowloon and, across a strip of water, to Hong Kong and the mountain barrier of Communist China. Ben Stahl sat thinking of his work. A sound of music was intruding. It came from nearby. Mozart.

He got to his feet and walked into the lobby of the hotel. A tiny Chinese girl was playing a piano. She was five. Mr. Stahl knew a little about her. He name was Ginny Tiu. Her feet could not reach the pedals, and her tiny hands could not span an octave, but, somehow, she made Mozart sound like Mozart. He couldn't believe his ears.

He listened. "Can you play anything else?" he said. Ginny grinned. She wore high tight black pigtails with a tiny red ribbon on them. "Yes," she said. She recognized Mr. Stahl as an American so, to oblige him, the little Chinese girl played a fast, low-down rendition of "Chattanooga Choo-Choo."

Throughout, she chewed what she calls "Beechie" gum. The jaws, the hands, the feet, the eyes, were all moving at top speed. Mr. Stahl returned to his room with a slight headache. In the evening, he spoke to Ginny's father. Mr. William Tiu was 35. He owned the Ocean View. Mr. Tiu's people come from Amoy. He is a squat man with a crew cut, owlish eyes behind big-rimmed glasses, and gold caps on his teeth.

Stahl said that little Ginny had talent. How long had she studied piano? Never, said Bill Tiu. Ginny couldn't read a note. Stahl could feel the headache again. The hotel owner said that, years ago, his father, Tiu Hun-chiong, had come into possession of a piano in Foochow. He had taught himself to play Chinese music on it.

Bill had done the same when the family moved to Manila. He too could not read a note. In fact, when Bill was courting Pacita, his wife, he often played the old Al Jolson music—"Suwannee," "Sonny Boy"—to bring her heart toward his hands.

Stahl put Mr. Tiu in touch with Don McNeill of The Breakfast Club. "The kid has talent," was the verdict of the artist. McNeill brought the Tiu's to Chicago, and found that their name is pronounced Tee-You. Little Ginny played like crazy, and was soon playing as guest on the Ed Sullivan Show, the Perry Como Show, Jimmy Durante Show, Jack Paar Show and the Janet Blair Show.

Ginny earns $5,000 for a performance on television. Now, she has built a one-hour act with her family. Bill and Pacita have been married since 1946, and they have eight children, with another due in June. They are Joseph, 14; Esther, 12; Daniel, 11; Alexander, 8; Ginny, now 7; Vicky, 4; Elizabeth, 3; and Tony, 2.

The Tiu's are devout Baptists. Ginny's big ambition is not to be a concert pianist, but a missionary. Her father and I sat in Fu Manchu's in Miami Beach, talking about her. "She knows that her talent does not come from herself," he said. "It comes from God."

The four smallest ones are in the act with father, who maintains the most obedient family I've seen. No matter how small the problem, eight pairs of bright black shoe-button eyes look to him for a decision. Onstage, the little ones, in red mandarin coats, bow first to their father, then, with arms crossed, they bow to the audience.

"They learn English so fast," he said. "So very fast. I had to make a rule. They must speak Chinese at home and English outside." Ginny still chews "Beechie." Very good for teeth, she says.

She has a little sister, Elizabeth, who is a tiny, fat oriental bubble of a girl who squints her eyes tight shut when she smiles. I wanted to pick her up and squeeze her, but I refrained. She thinks that all occidentals look alike. Still, I can see her as a permanent adornment on my dresser.

No one understands how her sister Ginny can play so well. For example, when someone said: "Can you play Brahms?" Ginny swung her pigtails no. "How does it sound?" she said. Someone hummed a little. "Oh," she said, "I heard that somewhere." She went to a piano and, after a moment, the right hand began to hit the proper chords, the left began to play a proper bass accompaniment.

I shrugged and kissed her on the cheek. "Clever people, these Chinese," I said. She grinned up at me. "That's a old joke," she said. "You want a piece of gum, please?" . . .

Meals Should Be Eaten Without Friction

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The dinner table is the place to eat and not the place to scold, wrangle, bicker, or discipline the children. This does not mean that Junior can come to the table with dirty hands, gobble large chunks of meat, or throw potatoes like spitballs.

If conditions become unpleasant, only a few calm words are needed to send the culprit from the table temporarily. It should be understood that he is to remain by himself until he agrees to behave.

It takes time to acquire table manners and to eat without spilling. Most children are clumsy with eating utensils and learn by following the example set by parents. Younger tots may enjoy their meals at a small table in the dining room or kitchen. This solves many problems, especially when guests are present.

Eating in front of TV also is a treat, to be used on special occasions. Conflicts are to be expected and no parent can hope for blissful peace at every meal. The secret is to be consistent in the type of behavior the family expects, and in time the youngster falls into line.

Up to a generation or two ago the rule was that children should be seen and not heard. Meal time was a period of education and the small fry were forced to listen to tedious monologs, long passages from the Bible, or whatever else interested the parents.

Nowadays the tendency is to give the youngster a chance to express himself in his own way. His thoughts and beliefs are respected and so directed that the child learns to express himself as well as how to become an appreciative audience.

PASTEURIZATION PROTECTS

Mrs L. M. writes: I am a retired registered nurse and we moved to a dairy section. Our neighbors drink raw milk and are amazed that we pasteurize ours. Would appreciate your meditorial comment.

REPLY

Pasteurization protects against brucellosis and bovine tuberculosis. Need more be said?

BOY LIKES PEPPER

Mrs. J. M. writes: A 4½ year old smothers his food with pepper—imitating his father. Is this harming him?

REPLY

Probably not. Pepper may aggravate an irritated intestinal tract but if the boy has no complaints, why make an issue of his mimicry?

LACK OF HUMIDITY

Mrs. J. L. writes: In what way does excessively dry air in the home affect the health?

REPLY

The membranes of the respiratory passageways become dry and more susceptible to infection.

PROMINENT CHEEKBONE

V. A. S. writes: What would cause one cheekbone to become more prominent?

REPLY

Swelling of the cheek from allergy, a local infection, or a disease process in the bony or other tissues under the skin. I assume you do not have mumps.

DRAINING AFTER SURGERY

Mrs. F. writes: My husband, 59, was operated upon nearly a year ago for ruptured appendix and rupture of the intestine in the cecum area. Since then he has had a discharge through the incision and rectum. Is surgery recommended in this case?

REPLY

Surgery must be done to close these draining sinuses when the antibiotics fail to do the job.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

"I think," she said, "it was seven pounds, four ounces."

They're Volunteering For The Services

U. S. Defense Department has reduced the April draft call to 1,500 men, the smallest since the Korean War started. The country's armed forces are not being cut back. The Defense Department doesn't have any place to put more draftees because so many young men are enlisting in the different branches of the service.

The Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps already have as many men as they can handle. All of April's 1,500 draftees will be assigned to the Army. And the Army has been running several thousand over its authorized limit.

Drafting only 1,500 men in the entire United States in one month makes the draft not much more than a token operation. Practically speaking, the U. S. now has returned to a volunteer defense establishment.

One explanation for the well-filled ranks is that the recession has encouraged re-enlistments. Many men, having finished their enlistments and found that jobs are scarce, are going back into the service. This is especially true of those who have won the higher ratings. Also, young men who are unemployed are volunteering in larger numbers than usual.

Meanwhile the available places in the Women's Army Corps are being filled. In this case the snappy new green uniform with a lightly fitted jacket and a slimmer skirt may be a big part of the lure.

In any case, American youths are entering the armed forces in such great numbers that the draft is no longer the important source of manpower it once was.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The First Hundred Days

It is customary, in this country, where Administrations can be changed, every four years, to give an incoming President an opportunity to get started without too much opposition. Generally, he appoints to his Cabinet whomever he chooses. He is given time to acquaint himself with public affairs, the American people generously assuming that a President needs to learn the intimacies of his job.

President John Kennedy has been treated better than most Presidents have been by the press, by Congress and by the opposition party, the Republican Party. This is undoubtedly due to his charming personality, his swift approach to the problems which he faces, the delightful characters of his wife and daughter, to the relief from the cold and distant personality which President Eisenhower chose to present to his people.

Now, the first 100 days are reaching their close. Jack Kennedy is now a full-fledged President, standing on his own, to be criticized and even attacked, as is customary in our country. I think President Kennedy will have a longer period of respite than most Presidents have had because the times are so perilous and many of the issues are hardly understood by the American people.

How much do most of us really understand of the piling up of issues in the Congo, in Laos, in South Vietnam, in Peking, in Moscow? More and more our people are becoming conscious of the fact that some time in the past, events have occurred and agreements have been made which are damaging to the United States. Young men and women who are now coming of age, wonder why they are being burdened by the errors of their elders. They do not remember Roosevelt or much about Truman. They are not mystified by the amazing statesmen of World War II, the great Churchill, the mysterious Stalin, the wicked Hitler, the gross Mussolini. These are names like Julius Caesar or Napoleon or even Genghis Khan. They see these names in books but they do not feel the impress of their personalities.

They are not astounded by the atom bomb or the hydrogen bomb. Many of them have studied sufficient science to know all about such toys. They take things in their stride that we elders never heard about. They read symbols which are gibberish to us. The nature of their education has changed.

Do they know more? That depends upon what one means by the word, know, and that brings us back to President Jack Kennedy. He is closer to the younger generations than almost any President has been. This gives him an enormous advantage over a man like Eisenhower who was an elderly gentleman of the generation of World War II. Kennedy is current. Each generation approaches identical problems differently and Kennedy approaches current problems in closer consonance to his own generation. His is bound to be a very different approach from that of either Eisenhower or Truman.

Thus, some of Kennedy's attitudes are shocking to an older generation, but that does not matter. What is significant are the results of his thinking and his actions. The Kennedy-Macmillan Conferences could not have been anything like the Roosevelt-Churchill Conferences, say, at Quebec. Roosevelt tended to be a flatterer; Churchill was a salesman, selling the glories of the British Empire for full American support. Churchill did an amazingly good job for his country which will ever honor him for his success. Jack Kennedy is not likely ever to make such a deal as Roosevelt made at Teheran. Jack Kennedy will probably develop into a nationalist as he grows in the Presidency.

During the first 100 days there have been many excursions and alarms but it is too early to see any results of all the activity. In times like these, the course of events is never swift, although patience and reticence often become defeat. On the other hand, we are so close to a shooting war with the Soviet Universal State, that the President wants to be sure that should war come. it is war by choice, not war by accident. This is one of President Kennedy's major problems, as he is being teased into starting a fight, several theaters being offered him at once. The Russians still hold the initiative and it needs to be taken from them. That will be the task of the next hundred days.

Individual Americans Working To Restore Good Neighbor Policy

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — As President Kennedy calls the nation's attention to Pan American Day today he will find all sorts of individual Americans, big and little, anxious to help him restore the good neighbor policy.

Acting on his inauguration plea, "Don't ask what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country," they have started, on their own, to do all sorts of things to restore Pan American friendship.

Down in High Point, N. C., Dr. N. M. Harrison conceived the idea of a "Friendship Truck Caravan" to collect food and clothing through the Kiwanis Clubs, for Cuban refugees. And South Florida Council No. 84 of the Boy Scouts has started to work with the boys who have fled from Cuba with their families.

"It is not for these political exiles alone that we must rise to meet the challenge," say Scouts in an official resolution, "it is for our community, for it is to stimulate awareness in the youth of our community."

And from Santa Paula, Calif., comes a letter from the students in Room 4 of the Isbell School enclosing a check for $8.73 for the University of the Americas.

"We first heard about the university through your column which our teacher read aloud to us," wrote the youngsters of the Isbell School. "We collected the money in two ways: one of which was to sell marbles, the other was to donate."

The letter is signed by 32 members of Room 4.

I strongly suspect that the nickels and dimes of these youngsters who gave up their lunch money, plus the hard work of the Kiwanis Clubs of North Carolina and that of the Boy Scouts of Southern Florida and the efforts of various others, will be more effective in winning friends in places where we need friends than a month of propaganda radio broadcasts beamed from official Washington.

University Of The Americas

Pan American Day might be a good time to take stock of the idea previously discussed in this column of establishing a University of the Americas to utilize the exiled professors, doctors, and lawyers now working as bellhops and busboys in Miami hotels, and thus create a permanent monument to the cultural freedoms once enjoyed at the University of Havana.

President Kennedy has acted on this idea with enthusiastic vigor and authorized his Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, Abe Ribicoff, to make a survey of the situation. Gov. Ribicoff went to Miami with two assistants, and walked all over the area like a newspaperman covering a story. He interviewed refugees, buttonholed social workers, talked to education experts.

As a result, he worked out a provisional arrangement with the University of Miami for a temporary University of the Americas which would take in university students who have fled from Havana, and take advantage of the talents of Cuban refugee professors.

However, the major goal of a permanent University of the Americas still remains.

Future relations between the Americas are so important that we could easily support three Universities of the Americas—one in North America, one in Central America, one in South America. There could be an interchange of professors, with students taking bilingual courses in English and Spanish and spending a year in each of the three universities.

This is the kind of monument to Pan American friendship which can make the Good Neighbor Policy blossom once again.

Anti-Castro Strategy

The most important point which Cuban farmers and workmen will be watching in the coming drive against Fidel Castro is whether the Castro reforms are to be abolished.

If the big foreign estates are to be returned to their owners and if the bathing beaches are to be reserved once again for the wealthy elite of Havana, then the uprising against Castro won't get much support from inside Cuba.

If, on the other hand, it's announced that the better reforms of Castro will remain, after the pattern of the Mexican Revolution, which paid for expropriated property, then the anti-Castro movement will get support.

What the Cuban exiles must also remember is that Castro is a past master at waging guerrilla war. He knows what French military studies have shown in French Indo-China and Algeria—that 30,000 rebels can pin down 500,000 trained French troops. This was why when Castro faced 2,000 guerrilla fighters in Eastern Cuba recently he sent 40,000 militiamen to wipe them out—and caught half.

On top of guerrilla warfare, the Communists have added something else — revolutionary warfare. This consists of blowing up bridges and slitting sentries' throats—for an ideology. This is why Castro, two years ago, with only a handful of men, was able to defeat the trained 25,000-man army of President Batista.

And to oust Castro today, the opposition needs an ideology just as passionate, but more dedicated to permanent human freedoms.

JFK's Tax Message May Affect His Popularity

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Within a few days the American people will get for the first time some basic information which will enable them to begin to make up their minds whether or not they like their new President.

For what has happened thus far hasn't really been decisive. It doesn't matter much whether the Kennedy household hires a French chef or whether the "Peace Corps" is going to convert native Africans to civilization. What does matter is whether the federal government is going to collect more tax money out of the worker's take-home pay.

The President is planning to send his tax message to Congress next week. It has been delayed for unexplained reasons, though it is widely suspected that the drafts of the message proposed by the President's "task forces" and advisers — the "theoretical" boys — have run into some penetrating criticism from members of Congress — the "practical" boys.

Her feet could not reach the pedals, and her tiny hands could not span an octave, but, somehow, she made Mozart sound like Mozart. He couldn't believe his ears.

He listened. "Can you play anything else?" he said. Ginny grinned. She wore high tight black pigtails with a tiny red ribbon on them. "Yes," she said. She recognized Mr. Stahl as an American so, to oblige him, the little Chinese girl played a fast, low-down rendition of "Chattanooga Choo-Choo."

Throughout, she chewed what she calls "Beechie" gum. The jaws, the hands, the feet, the eyes, were all moving at top speed. Mr. Stahl returned to his room with a slight headache. In the evening, he spoke to Ginny's father. Mr. William Tiu was 35. He owned the Ocean View. Mr. Tiu's people come from Amoy. He is a squat man with a crew cut, owlish eyes behind big-rimmed glasses, and gold caps on his teeth.

Stahl said that little Ginny had talent. How long had she studied piano? Never, said Bill Tiu. Ginny couldn't read a note. Stahl could feel the headache again. The hotel owner said that, years ago, his father, Tiu Hun-chiong, had come into possession of a piano in Foochow. He had taught himself to play Chinese music on it.

Bill had done the same when the family moved to Manila. He too could not read a note. In fact, when Bill was courting Pacita, his wife, he often played the old Al Jolson music—"Suwannee," "Sonny Boy"—to bring her heart toward his hands.

Stahl put Mr. Tiu in touch with Don McNeill of The Breakfast Club. "The kid has talent," was the verdict of the artist. McNeill brought the Tiu's to Chicago, and found that their name is pronounced Tee-You. Little Ginny played like crazy, and was soon playing as guest on the Ed Sullivan Show, the Perry Como Show, Jimmy Durante Show, Jack Paar Show and the Janet Blair Show.

Ginny earns $5,000 for a performance on television. Now, she has built a one-hour act with her family. Bill and Pacita have been married since 1946, and they have eight children, with another due in June. They are Joseph, 14; Esther, 12; Daniel, 11; Alexander, 8; Ginny, now 7; Vicky, 4; Elizabeth, 3; and Tony, 2.

The Tiu's are devout Baptists. Ginny's big ambition is not to be a concert pianist, but a missionary. Her father and I sat in Fu Manchu's in Miami Beach, talking about her. "She knows that her talent does not come from herself," he said. "It comes from God."

The four smallest ones are in the act with father, who maintains the most obedient family I've seen. No matter how small the problem, eight pairs of bright black shoe-button eyes look to him for a decision. Onstage, the little ones, in red mandarin coats, bow first to their father, then, with arms crossed, they bow to the audience.

"They learn English so fast," he said. "So very fast. I had to make a rule. They must speak Chinese at home and English outside." Ginny still chews "Beechie." Very good for teeth, she says.

She has a little sister, Elizabeth, who is a tiny, fat oriental bubble of a girl who squints her eyes tight shut when she smiles. I wanted to pick her up and squeeze her, but I refrained. She thinks that all occidentals look alike. Still, I can see her as a permanent adornment on my dresser.

No one understands how her sister Ginny can play so well. For example, when someone said: "Can you play Brahms?" Ginny swung her pigtails no. "How does it sound?" she said. Someone hummed a little. "Oh," she said, "I heard that somewhere." She went to a piano and, after a moment, the right hand began to hit the proper chords, the left began to play a proper bass accompaniment.

I shrugged and kissed her on the cheek. "Clever people, these Chinese," I said. She grinned up at me. "That's a old joke," she said. "You want a piece of gum, please?" . . .

Meals Should Be Eaten Without Friction

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The dinner table is the place to eat and not the place to scold, wrangle, bicker, or discipline the children. This does not mean that Junior can come to the table with dirty hands, gobble large chunks of meat, or throw potatoes like spitballs.

If conditions become unpleasant, only a few calm words are needed to send the culprit from the table temporarily. It should be understood that he is to remain by himself until he agrees to behave.

It takes time to acquire table manners and to eat without spilling. Most children are clumsy with eating utensils and learn by following the example set by parents. Younger tots may enjoy their meals at a small table in the dining room or kitchen. This solves many problems, especially when guests are present.

Eating in front of TV also is a treat, to be used on special occasions. Conflicts are to be expected and no parent can hope for blissful peace at every meal. The secret is to be consistent in the type of behavior the family expects, and in time the youngster falls into line.

Up to a generation or two ago the rule was that children should be seen and not heard. Meal time was a period of education and the small fry were forced to listen to tedious monologs, long passages from the Bible, or whatever else interested the parents.

Nowadays the tendency is to give the youngster a chance to express himself in his own way. His thoughts and beliefs are respected and so directed that the child learns to express himself as well as how to become an appreciative audience.

PASTEURIZATION PROTECTS

Mrs L. M. writes: I am a retired registered nurse and we moved to a dairy section. Our neighbors drink raw milk and are amazed that we pasteurize ours. Would appreciate your meditorial comment.

REPLY

Pasteurization protects against brucellosis and bovine tuberculosis. Need more be said?

BOY LIKES PEPPER

Mrs. J. M. writes: A 4½ year old smothers his food with pepper —imitating his father. Is this harming him?

REPLY

Probably not. Pepper may aggravate an irritated intestinal tract but if the boy has no complaints, why make an issue of his mimicry?

LACK OF HUMIDITY

Mrs. J. L. writes: In what way does excessively dry air in the home affect the health?

REPLY

The membranes of the respiratory passageways become dry and more susceptible to infection.

PROMINENT CHEEKBONE

V. A. S. writes: What would cause one cheekbone to become more prominent?

REPLY

Swelling of the cheek from allergy, a local infection, or a disease process in the bony or other tissues under the skin. I assume you do not have mumps.

DRAINING AFTER SURGERY

Mrs. F. writes: My husband, 59, was operated upon nearly a year ago for ruptured appendix and rupture of the intestine in the cecum area. Since then he has had a discharge through the incision and rectum. Is surgery recommended in this case?

REPLY

Surgery must be done to close these draining sinuses when the antibiotics fail to do the job.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

She was purchasing her first life insurance policy and found a few of the questions thrown at her a bit baffling. "What's your maximum weight?" She answered easily enough with "About 150 pounds," but the next query, "What's your minimum weight?" stopped her. After some hesitation, however, she brightened. "I think," she said, "it was seven pounds, four ounces."

Slouched over a bar, a disgruntled race track patron confessed he couldn't even pick the kind of drink he desired. "I'd order a pony of brandy," he explained to the bartender. "but I know it would come in last."

A smart, upcoming young musical comedy starlet, wearied of parrying the maneuvers of an uninhibited stage manager and a bald-headed producer, hung this sign outside her dressing room:

"Abandon grope all ye who enter here."

Spanish Stuffed Eggs

For your next cocktail buffet, this Spanish version of devilled eggs will make a hit. Remove the yolks from hard-cooked eggs and blend with an equal amount of minced cooked or canned shrimp, blend with enough Spanish olive oil to make a creamy paste and season with salt, pepper and a little crushed oregano. Refill the egg whites with the mixture and place a sliver of canned sweet red pepper or pimento over the top of each.

Winter Shortcake

Easy on the hostess

1 cup canned crushed pineapple (9-oz. can)
1 cup finely chopped or shredded red-skinned apple (1 medium to large apple)
1 cup whole cranberry sauce

Combine ingredients and let stand at room temperature ½ to 1 hour before serving. Make fruit shortcakes (individual). Split biscuits while piping hot and serve shortcake style with fruit mixture. Serves 6.

Rice, A Major Go-With

Many menus which feature the delicious flavor of fish, seafood and eggs are made "extra special" when served with rice. And rice is in plentiful supply, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Serve rice as an interesting base or bed for main dishes, as a vegetable, a salad or a dessert. The versatility of rice, and its ability to serve such a variety of roles in our daily meals makes it a natural food item to include during this period of time when meatless menus are being planned.

You might begin by simply cooking the rice in a flavor-enhancing liquid such as tomato juice, cranberry juice, consomme, or barbecue sauce. These liquids will gently flavor and lightly tint the white kernels for increased menu appeal.

Adding goodies to the cooked rice is easily done, and the number of variations possible is limited only by the imagination. Some may be added during the cooking, such as raisins, currants, dates and apricots, while others are added to the cooked rice just before serving. The added attractions which you plan should be ones which will go with and enhance the entree. . .thus lifting it out of the routine dish class and into the family-tempting treat role.

Here are a few of the ways you can serve rice which will delight your clan:

Almond Rice. . . stir toasted, slivered, blanched almonds into steaming, cooked rice just before serving.

Almond-Currant Rice. . . add 2 tablespoons currants and 1 teaspoon butter for each cup rice to be cooked, cook as usual. Just before serving, stir in sauteed almonds. To saute almonds, simply fry slivered almonds in melted butter until browned.

Barbecued Rice. . . use your favorite barbecue sauce for the cooking liquid. . .equal parts sauce and water. . .cook as usual. Barbecued rice is rosy-hued with a subtle-to-zesty flavor goodness depending upon the intensity of the sauce used. Excellent with fried fish, scallops and shrimp.

Browned Rice. . . saute uncooked rice with onions in butter until each kernel is golden brown, then using consomme or other soup stock, cook rice according to instructions. Browned rice is sometimes referred to as Mock Wild Rice and because of its brownish appearance is an interesting contrast to cream sauce entrees.

Cheese Rice. . . . stir grated cheese into the cooked rice just before serving. Use mild, flavorful or robust cheddar cheese, depending upon the entree with which the cheese rice is being served. Vary the amount of cheese to suit your family's taste desires.

SOUR SAUCE

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fresh vegetables take on new glamour with this sour cream sauce: Combine 1 cup of sour cream, ¼ cup of mayonnaise, ¼ teaspoon of dry mustard, juice of ½ lemon, ½ teaspoon of sugar and 1 green onion, chopped. Serve on hot broccoli, cabbage, brussels sprouts or cauliflower. Makes 1 1-3 cups sauce.

NEW SOUP POWDERS

NEW YORK (UPI) —Seven Swiss-made European-style soups now are available in dehydrated form from an American manufacturer. They are onion, cream of mushroom, chicken and noodle, beef and noodle, smoky green pea, garden vegetable and cream of leek. It's Never Too Early For Neatness

A school child is old enough to accept some responsibility. If you start in the very beginning to train him wisely you will be doing your child a favor and saving yourself time and trouble.

Teach children to enter the house from the back porch upon their return from school. (This will save the front part of your home from being tracked up.)

Place a large box on the back porch for their overshoes. There will be no mud tracked in and they will know where their overshoes are when they want them again.

Have a coat hanger in a closet on the back porch on a nail within each child's reach and have them understand their raincoats must go there.

Do not allow them to scatter schoolbooks all over the house. Give each a table for study. It is just as easy for them to put their books there when they enter the house as to hunt for them later.

Be firm about these rules for the first week or so and the child will carry them out all the school term. This will save you time and the responsibility is good for the child. It is never too early to teach a child to be orderly and neat.

A person will use about four times as much energy while bending over as while he is standing.

Lamb Stew

Lamb cooked with artichokes makes a delightful casserole dish. First dust cubes of boned lamb from shoulder with seasoned flour, then saute in a generous amount of Spanish olive oil until browned on all sides. Push to one side of pan; add a whole garlic clove, saute until brown, then remove garlic. Add a tablespoon of minced fresh parsley and a teaspoon of paprika to oil in pan, cook a few seconds, then add the juice of ½ lemon, 1 teaspoon salt and 1 cup water. Cover, simmer 1 hour. During last 10 minutes add a package of frozen artichoke hearts, cook until tender. Serve with rice or mashed potatoes.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Pie in the sky? Sure! But you pay! — An amazing booklet came by mail the other day, the general theme: "Be thankful for taxes! Leap for joy at every tax boost! It means you're getting more from the government!" It was put out by one of the more active groups lobbying for federal aid. Though the booklet got the cart in front of the horse, it was right in one respect: there's a definite relationship between government spending and taxes. "More Government Spending" may be the popular refrain. However, every dollar spent or given away by the Federal government comes out of the taxpayers' pockets. The government takes a dollar and gives back about 50 cents worth of something or other! There is no such thing as "something-for-nothing"! The people pay, and pay dearly! Every new spending program means more taxes — sooner or later. Already taxes on income are so high that there is very little incentive to increase one's earnings beyond a certain point.

I presume you are familiar with the imaginary conversation which takes place in the book, "The Law and the Profits," by Prof. Parkinson, between a doctor and a well-to-do patient who has just received his doctor bill. The patient tells the doctor that to pay the $4,000 fee he would have to earn an extra $44,500, and then he inquires of the doctor how much of the $4,000 he would be able to retain after taxes. The doctor, after a bit of scribbling, concludes that he would be able to retain only $800 of the $4,000. The patient must go out and earn $44,500 in order to give the doctor $800 of spendable income, the entire balance going to the government. (I believe a private arrangement was arrived at whereby the doctor settled for a couple cases of Scotch, a transaction of which I could not approve, of course!) Though the story may be a bit farfetched, it does bring home to us the fact that if we do not put a stop to unnecessary government spending, our taxes soon will get completely out of hand.

Laos: another step toward world domination — The Laos crisis is another illustration that the Cold War is a continuing struggle and that the Communists persist in efforts to achieve world domination. Facing evidences that this goal will be relentlessly pursued, we know that we must continue to be prepared for any eventuality. We must be prepared to fight both Communist aggression and Communist subversion. To treat lightly the existence of the subversive threat to the United States would be to commit national suicide. The judge who dismissed the charges against the student rioters at the San Francisco hearing of the House Committee on Un-American Activities said: "I very definitely agree with the view of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover that the riot was instigated by Communist subversives." The presence in this country of members of this world-wide conspiracy against human freedom and the dignity of man constitutes a deadly menace. The attack on freedom takes many guises. You and I, as individuals, must learn to recognize the danger in whatever form it appears and strenuously strive to protect our country against it.

Fairchild gets additional government work — Additional funds in the amount of $1,700,000 have been awarded Fairchild Corporation of Hagerstown, Maryland, by the Army Signal Corps for the production of drone surveillance systems. This is an extension of an existing contract. The new work is to be performed at Hagerstown.

New housing program—This past week our Senate Committee on Banking and currency has been holding hearings on the administration's proposed housing program. Here are some of the highlights of the President's recommendations:

Government-insured mortgages, running for 40 years with no down payment, would be made widely available, with a mortgage ceiling of $15,000. Non-profit organizations, cooperatives, and local public agencies would be eligible borrowers.

The maximum for FHA insurance of home-improvement loans would be raised to $10,000, with up to 25 years to pay.

The FHA would be authorized to insure mortgages on individual units in apartments.

Authority for special assistance functions would be increased by $750,000,000.

Authorization for direct loans for housing for the elderly would be made eligible for these loans. The monthly rent subsidy to elderly families would be boosted by $10 a month. There would be local responsibility for establishment of preferences for occupants.

The Urban Renewal Grant Authorization would be increased by 2½ billion dollars. Urban renewal property could be sold to a limited-dividend or non-profit organization or agency for its use in providing low-income housing. The Federal share for urban planning grants would be increased from ½ to ⅔ and the total authorization for this purpose increased by $80,000,000.

An additional $50,000,000 would be provided for loans for such local facilities as sewers and water systems.

Loan authority for farm housing, scheduled to expire this year, would be extended for 5 years.

No time for negative thinking—An excellent editorial appeared in a recent issue for a newsletter put out by the First National Bank of Dallas, Texas. It is worth repeating:

"Why are we hearing so much about what is wrong with America and so little about what is right with America? Why do even men in high authority persist in emphasizing our troubles instead of our blessings? Over the past 12 months there appears to have been an excessive emphasis upon things that depress and an obvious shortage of attention to things of which we can be justly proud. Particularly has this been noticeable in matters economic.

"No one with good sense takes delight in the fact that there are over 5 million workers unemployed in this country, but it might help us mentally to hear that at the same time more people are employed than ever before. No one should ignore the fact that our economy is depressed, but he can take comfort in the fact that in the aggregate we are only slightly below (less than 2 per cent) the all-time high of the second quarter of 1960.

"It would be well, indeed, if all of us spent more time thinking positively about ourselves and our country."

Wheat Cheese Loaf

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wheat cheese loaf makes a hearty meal. Blend 1½ cups of grated cheddar with 1-3 cup each of softened butter and chopped stuffed olives, 3 tablespoons of chopped onion and 1 tablespoon of prepared mustard.

Spread cheese mixture on every slice from a loaf of wheat bread and reassemble loaf. Tie lengthwise with string and place on cookie sheet or string on rotisserie rod. Heat in 400-degree oven or rotisserie about 10 minutes, until piping hot. To serve, cut loaf in half, end to end, and slightly separate halves.

It's Never Too Early For Neatness

A school child is old enough to accept some responsibility. If you start in the very beginning to train him wisely you will be doing your child a favor and saving yourself time and trouble.

Teach children to enter the house from the back porch upon their return from school. (This will save the front part of your home from being tracked up.)

Place a large box on the back porch for their overshoes. There will be no mud tracked in and they will know where their overshoes are when they want them again.

Have a coat hanger in a closet on the back porch on a nail within each child's reach and have them understand their raincoats must go there.

Do not allow them to scatter schoolbooks all over the house. Give each a table for study. It is just as easy for them to put their books there when they enter the house as to hunt for them later.

Be firm about these rules for the first week or so and the child will carry them out all the school term. This will save you time and the responsibility is good for the child. It is never too early to teach a child to be orderly and neat.

A person will use about four times as much energy while bending over as while he is standing.

Lamb Stew

Lamb cooked with artichokes makes a delightful casserole dish. First dust cubes of boned lamb from shoulder with seasoned flour, then saute in a generous amount of Spanish olive oil until browned on all sides. Push to one side of pan; add a whole garlic clove, saute until brown, then remove garlic. Add a tablespoon of minced fresh parsley and a teaspoon of paprika to oil in pan, cook a few seconds, then add the juice of ½ lemon, 1 teaspoon salt and 1 cup water. Cover, simmer 1 hour. During last 10 minutes add a package of frozen artichoke hearts, cook until tender. Serve with rice or mashed potatoes.

Senate Cloakroom
by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Pie in the sky? Sure! But you pay! — An amazing booklet came by mail the other day, the general theme: "Be thankful for taxes! Leap for joy at every tax boost! It means you're getting more from the government!" It was put out by one of the more active groups lobbying for federal aid. Though the booklet got the cart in front of the horse, it was right in one respect: there's a definite relationship between government spending and taxes. "More Government Spending" may be the popular refrain. However, every dollar spent or given away by the Federal government comes out of the taxpayers' pockets. The government takes a dollar and gives back about 50 cents worth of something or other! There is no such thing as "something-for-nothing"! The people pay, and pay dearly! Every new spending program means more taxes — sooner or later. Already taxes on income are so high that there is very little incentive to increase one's earnings beyond a certain point.

I presume you are familiar with the imaginary conversation which takes place in the book, "The Law and the Profits," by Prof. Parkinson, between a doctor and a well-to-do patient who has just received his doctor bill. The patient tells the doctor that to pay the $4,000 fee he would have to earn an extra $44,500, and then he inquires of the doctor how much of the $4,000 he would be able to retain after taxes. The doctor, after a bit of scribbling, concludes that he would be able to retain only $800 of the $4,000. The patient must go out and earn $44,500 in order to give the doctor $800 of spendable income, the entire balance going to the government. (I believe a private arrangement was arrived at whereby the doctor settled for a couple cases of Scotch, a transaction of which I could not approve, of course!) Though the story may be a bit farfetched, it does bring home to us the fact that if we do not put a stop to unnecessary government spending, our taxes soon will get completely out of hand.

Laos: another step toward world domination — The Laos crisis is another illustration that the Cold War is a continuing struggle and that the Communists persist in efforts to achieve world domination. Facing evidences that this goal will be relentlessly pursued, we know that we must continue to be prepared for any eventuality. We must be prepared to fight both Communist aggression and Communist subversion. To treat lightly the existence of the subversive threat to the United States would be to commit national suicide. The judge who dismissed the charges against the student rioters at the San Francisco hearing of the House Committee on Un-American Activities said: "I very definitely agree with the view of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover that the riot was instigated by Communist subversives." The presence in this country of members of this world-wide conspiracy against human freedom and the dignity of man constitutes a deadly menace. The attack on freedom takes many guises. You and I, as individuals, must learn to recognize the danger in whatever form it appears and strenuously strive to protect our country against it.

Fairchild gets additional government work — Additional funds in the amount of $1,700,000 have been awarded Fairchild Corporation of Hagerstown, Maryland, by the Army Signal Corps for the production of drone surveillance systems. This is an extension of an existing contract. The work is to be performed at Hagerstown.

New housing program—This past week our Senate Committee on Banking and currency has been holding hearings on the administration's proposed housing program. Here are some of the highlights of the President's recommendations:

Government-insured mortgages, running for 40 years with no down payment, would be made widely available, with a mortgage ceiling of $15,000. Non-profit organizations, cooperatives, and local public agencies would be eligible borrowers.

The maximum for FHA insurance of home-improvement loans would be raised to $10,000, with up to 25 years to pay.

The FHA would be authorized to insure mortgages on individual units in apartments.

Authority for special assistance functions would be increased by $750,000,000.

Authorization for direct loans for housing for the elderly would be made eligible for these loans. The monthly rent subsidy to elderly families would be boosted by $10 a month. There would be local responsibility for establishment of preferences for occupants.

The Urban Renewal Grant Authorization would be increased by 2½ billion dollars. Urban renewal property could be sold to a limited-dividend or non-profit organization or agency for its use in providing low-income housing. The Federal share for urban planning grants would be increased from ½ to ⅔ and the total authorization for this purpose increased by $80,000,000.

An additional $50,000,000 would be provided for loans for such local facilities as sewers and water systems.

Loan authority for farm housing, scheduled to expire this year, would be extended for 5 years.

No time for negative thinking—An excellent editorial appeared in a recent issue for a newsletter put out by the First National Bank of Dallas, Texas. It is worth repeating:

"Why are we hearing so much about what is wrong with America and so little about what is right with America? Why do even men in high authority persist in emphasizing our troubles instead of our blessings? Over the past 12 months there appears to have been an excessive emphasis upon things that depress and an obvious shortage of attention to things of which we can be justly proud. Particularly has this been noticeable in matters economic.

"No one with good sense takes delight in the fact that there are over 5 million workers unemployed in this country, but it might help us mentally to hear that at the same time more people are employed than ever before. No one should ignore the fact that our economy is depressed, but he can take comfort in the fact that in the aggregate we are only slightly below (less than 2 per cent) the all-time high of the second quarter of 1960.

"It would be well, indeed, if all of us spent more time thinking positively about ourselves and our country."

Wheat Cheese Loaf

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wheat cheese loaf makes a hearty meal. Blend 1½ cups of grated cheddar with 1-3 cup each of softened butter and chopped stuffed olives, 3 tablespoons of chopped onion and 1 tablespoon of prepared mustard.

Spread cheese mixture on every slice from a loaf of wheat bread and reassemble loaf. Tie lengthwise with string and place on cookie sheet or string on rotisserie rod. Heat in 400-degree oven or rotisserie about 10 minutes, until piping hot. To serve, cut loaf in half, end to end, and slightly separate halves.

Salmon Cheese Pie

- 3 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon Tabasco
- 1 1-pound can salmon, drained
- 1 cup grated Swiss cheese
- 1 cup grated cheddar cheese
- 2 tablespoons minced green onion tops
- 1 9-inch unbaked pastry shell

In a bowl combine eggs, milk, salt, pepper and Tabasco. Stir in salmon, cheese and onion tops. Pour into pastry shell and bake in a preheated 375° F. oven for 45 to 50 minutes, or until set in center. Serve hot. Serves 6.

PROCTER & GAMBLE

Bread Stuffing

2 tablespoons chopped onion
¼ cup chopped celery
3 tablespoons butter or other fat, melted
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
½ teaspoon thyme, sage, or savory seasoning
2 cups soft bread crumbs

Cook onion and celery in butter until tender. Add the cooked vegetables and seasonings to the bread crumbs. Mix thoroughly. If stuffing seems very dry, add 1 tablespoon water, milk, or fish stock to moisten.

Individual Veal Pies

*2 pounds cubed veal
Seasoned flour
¼ cup shortening
1 cup sliced onion
1-1½ cups water
2 cups diced carrots
⅛ teaspoon rosemary
½ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
2 cups canned apple sauce
Pastry

Roll veal cubes in seasoned flour. Saute in shortening until golden brown. Remove to kettle. Saute onion in same skillet; add to meat. Pour water into skillet, heat, stirring until all browned particles have been removed. Pour over meat in kettle. Add carrots, rosemary, salt and pepper. Cover, simmer until meat is tender, about 1-1½ hours. Add apple sauce; heat. If necessary, thicken gravy with a little flour mixed to a smooth paste in cold water. Makes 5½ cups.

When ready to prepare meal, place mixture in individual aluminum pie tins. Cover tops with pastry. Trim off excess pastry; make slits in top to allow steam to escape. Bake at 425 degrees, 15 minutes or until pastry is browned. Makes 6-8 pies.

*Use rump of veal for best results.

National Champion's Cherry Pie Recipe

CHICAGO (UPI)—The trick to baking the best cherry pie in the nation is to let the cherries drain for a full hour, says Sherry Shirley, of Bunker Hill, W.Va.

Sherry is the 17-year-old high school senior who won the National Cherry Pie Baking contest.

Here's her prize-winning recipe filling: 2 (20-ounce) cans frozen cherries, thawed and drained 60 minutes; 1 cup sugar; 3 tablespoons tapioca; ⅛ teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon almond flavoring; ½ teaspoon lemon juice; and 1 tablespoon margarine.

Crust: 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour; 1 teaspoon salt; 2-3 cup vegetable shortening; and 4 to 5 tablespoons cold water.

Combine drained cherries with filling ingredients except for margarine. Allow to stand while preparing pastry.

Mix flour and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut in half the shortening until mixture resembles corn meal. Cut in remaining shortening until the size of large peas.

Stir in water, 2 tablespoons at a time, until dough forms a ball. Press into a ball in waxed paper and divide into 2 parts. Roll out 1 part, ⅛-inch thick and fit into 9-inch pie plate. Roll out remaining dough to fit over top of pie. Cut a design in center to allow for escape of steam. Set aside.

Pour cherry filling into pastry-lined pie plate and dot with margarine. Moisten edge of bottom pastry and place on top pastry. Seal and trim edges. Flute edge of pastry with fingers. Cover edge of pastry with a strip of foil. Bake in 425-degree oven for 30 minutes. Remove the foil and bake 10 minutes longer.

Broiled Yellow Perch

2 pounds pan-dressed yellow perch or other small fish, fresh or frozen
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 pound sliced bacon

Thaw frozen fish. Clean, wash, and dry fish. Sprinkle inside and out with salt and pepper. Wrap each fish with a slice of bacon. Place on a greased broiler pan about 3 inches from source of heat. Broil 5 to 8 minutes or until bacon is crisp. Turn carefully. Broil 5 to 8 minutes longer or until bacon is crisp and fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serves 6.

Individual Veal Pies

*2 pounds cubed veal
Seasoned flour
¼ cup shortening
1 cup sliced onion
1-1½ cups water
2 cups diced carrots
⅛ teaspoon rosemary
½ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
Pastry

Roll veal cubes in seasoned flour. Saute in shortening until golden brown. Remove to kettle. Saute onion in same skillet; add to meat. Pour water into skillet, heat, stirring until all browned particles have been removed. Pour over meat in kettle. Add carrots, rosemary, salt and pepper. Cover, simmer until meat is tender, about 1-1½ hours. Add apple sauce; heat. If necessary, thicken gravy with a little flour mixed to a smooth paste in cold water. Makes 5½ cups.

When ready to prepare meal, place mixture in individual aluminum pie tins. Cover tops with pastry. Trim off excess pastry; make slits in top to allow steam to escape. Bake at 425 degrees, 15 minutes or until pastry is browned. Makes 6-8 pies.

*Use rump of veal for best results.

National Champion's Cherry Pie Recipe

CHICAGO (UPI)—The trick to baking the best cherry pie in the nation is to let the cherries drain for a full hour, says Sherry Shirley, of Bunker Hill, W.Va.

Sherry is the 17-year-old high school senior who won the National Cherry Pie Baking contest.

Here's her prize-winning recipe filling: 2 (20-ounce) cans frozen cherries, thawed and drained 60 minutes; 1 cup sugar; 3 tablespoons tapioca; ⅛ teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon almond flavoring; ½ teaspoon lemon juice; and 1 tablespoon margarine.

Crust: 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour; 1 teaspoon salt; 2-3 cup vegetable shortening; and 4 to 5 tablespoons cold water.

Combine drained cherries with filling ingredients except for margarine. Allow to stand while preparing pastry.

Mix flour and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut in half the shortening until mixture resembles corn meal. Cut in remaining shortening until the size of large peas.

Stir in water, 2 tablespoons at a time, until dough forms a ball. Press into a ball in waxed paper and divide into 2 parts. Roll out 1 part, ⅛-inch thick and fit into 9-inch pie plate. Roll out remaining dough to fit over top of pie. Cut a design in center to allow for escape of steam. Set aside.

Pour cherry filling into pastry-lined pie plate and dot with margarine. Moisten edge of bottom pastry and place on top pastry. Seal and trim edges. Flute edge of pastry with fingers. Cover edge of pastry with a strip of foil. Bake in 425-degree oven for 30 minutes. Remove the foil and bake 10 minutes longer.

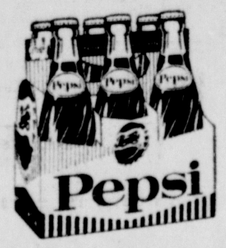

Broiled Yellow Perch

2 pounds pan-dressed yellow perch or other small fish, fresh or frozen
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 pound sliced bacon

Thaw frozen fish. Clean, wash, and dry fish. Sprinkle inside and out with salt and pepper. Wrap each fish with a slice of bacon. Place on a greased broiler pan about 3 inches from source of heat. Broil 5 to 8 minutes or until bacon is crisp. Turn carefully. Broil 5 to 8 minutes longer or until bacon is crisp and fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serves 6.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 30-year-old bachelor with an excellent position. I want to marry and I have a delightful and gifted girl in mind. Here are my problems:

I'm an only child and live in the large family home with my mother. Dad died two years ago and Mother has not left the house since that day. She will see no one but her physicians and her minister.

The heart specialist says she has a serious cardiac condition and a sudden upset could be fatal. I've discussed my wishes to marry with the minister and the physicians and they say my first obligation is to my mother. She refuses to discuss my leaving home or bringing a bride into the house.

The girl I love will not wait forever. I'm a nervous wreck from the indecision. Can you help me?

—GERARD

DEAR GERARD: If you robbed a bank and the shock killed your mother you'd have reason to feel guilty. The marriage of a 30-year-old son, however, should bring happiness to the heart of his mother.

Children who try to disguise their lack of independence by calling it "devotion" and "unselfishness" fool no one but themselves. It all boils down to an inability to behave in an adult manner.

Marry the girl and make a life for yourself—in a home of your own.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I didn't know a person must file income tax returns even though taxes are deducted every week from his pay check. I thought the withholding arrangement took care of everything.

From 1951 through 1960 I have not filed any returns. Now I am frightened because I've been reading that a person must file every year. I realize that I've broken the law.

Please tell me what to do. I don't want to be faced with a prison term. I'm really a law-abiding citizen and have never done a crooked thing in my life.

—DEEPLY DISTURBED

DEAR DEEPLY: Phone the local Director of the Department of Internal Revenue and tell him your plight.

If your taxes did not exceed the amount withheld you don't have too much to worry about. If you owe the government money, you may be able to pay up and get off with an apology (plus penalties) provided you can persuade the head man that you were ignorant of the facts. The important thing is this: now that you know the facts, turn yourself in.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Maybe this problem is peanuts because it's not a matter of life and death, but a lot of high school kids would like to know the answer.

When a guy takes a girl to a basketball game and his school is playing against her school, which side should they sit on?

My girl says it's good manners for the boy to sit on the girl's side. I don't agree. How about it?

—PULLED APART

DEAR PULLED: The boy provides the tickets and the girl should sit with her date, which means they both sit on HIS side.

CONFIDENTIAL TO IN A SPOT: Yes, it is dangerous. It is also illegal. The answer is no.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ASKING: It makes no sense to celebrate an anniversary which has been terminated by death. Spend the day with your mother but don't buy her a gift.

To learn the booby-traps of teen-age drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fort Hill Reservoir Being Drained

The Fort Hill Reservoir is being drained and low pressure will result in the area, Water Commissioner G. Ray Light announced.

Light said draining operations in the three and one-half million gallon storage facility began yesterday afternoon.

Draining is necessary to allow cleaning of the reservoir, the commissioner said, adding it would be back in service by Monday.

Some 30 thousand years ago, most of North America was covered with a layer of ice hundreds of feet thick.

Udall Surprises Group Of Boys With Basketball

GARY, W. Va. (UPI) — Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, a former college basketball player, took time out Wednesday from a West Virginia coalfields tour to sharpen his shooting eye.

The secretary's motorcade stopped and he got out when it reached a group of boys playing basketball on a makeshift basket hooked on a utility pole in this little mining community.

Udall walked up to them and they handed him the ball. The secretary stepped back about 15 feet and sank three clean set shots while the photographers took pictures and newsmen cheered him on.

The youngsters, most of them teen-agers, stood around with rather surprised looks on their faces.

Udall then began to dribble and throw hook shots and one-handers, depending on the instructions of the photographers, his mood and the angle.

He then shook hands with each boy, got back in the car and sped away.

The 41-year-old secretary, still lanky and athletic - looking with a crisp crewcut, was an All-Border Conference basketball selection at Arizona University in 1946.

W. Va. County Health Units Get Increases

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Sizeable increases in cash allotments to county units for the year beginning July 1 were announced by the State Health Department Wednesday.

The allotments — amounting to more than 200 per cent increases in some cases—were made possible through a 31.6 per cent increase in the Health Department's 1961-62 budget, approved by the recent Legislature.

The increase included $450,000 specifically earmarked for distribution to local health units.

Each county will receive a basic grant of $1,000 above its allotment for the present year. Each also will receive an additional sum on a per capita basis. Under the plan approved by the State Board of Health, this works out to 4.73 per person.

Allocations also are provided for four counties which do not have health units at present: Lincoln, Pendleton, Tucker and Wirt.

They will receive amounts ranging from $1,208 in Wirt to $1,960 for Lincoln. State Health Director N. H. Dyer said it is hoped the allocations will enable the four counties to develop necessary health programs.

In addition to the increased allocations, Dyer said, the department will continue to provide some $75,000 worth of services to the county units in the form of biological and clinical services and payment of clinical personnel.

Allotment increases to the counties include:

Barbour $1,700, Brooke 2,300, Calhoun 1,400, Doddridge 1,300, Gilmer 1,400, Grant 1,400, Hampshire 1,600, Hancock 3,000, Hardy 1,500, Harrison 4,400, Jackson 1,800, Lewis 2,000.

Marion 4,000, Marshall 2,800, Mason, 2,000, Monongalia 3,600, Ohio 4,200, Pleasants 1,300, Preston 2,300, Randolph 2,200, Ritchie 1,500, Roane 1,800, Taylor 1,700, Tyler 1,400, Upshur 1,900, Wetzel 1,900 and Wood 4,700.

Weather Sets Back Farmers 10 Days

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia farmers have been set a week to 10 days behind in their spring plowing and planting by cold, wet weather this month.

W. Va. County Health Units Get Increases

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Sizeable increases in cash allotments to county units for the year beginning July 1 were announced by the State Health Department Wednesday.

The allotments — amounting to more than 200 per cent increases in some cases—were made possible through a 31.6 per cent increase in the Health Department's 1961-62 budget, approved by the recent Legislature.

The increase included $450,000 specifically earmarked for distribution to local health units.

Each county will receive a basic grant of $1,000 above its allotment for the present year. Each also will receive an additional sum on a per capita basis. Under the plan approved by the State Board of Health, this works out to 4.73 per person.

Allocations also are provided for four counties which do not have health units at present: Lincoln, Pendleton, Tucker and Wirt.

They will receive amounts ranging from $1,208 in Wirt to $1,960 for Lincoln. State Health Director N. H. Dyer said it is hoped the allocations will enable the four counties to develop necessary health programs.

In addition to the increased allocations, Dyer said, the department will continue to provide some $75,000 worth of services to the county units in the form of biological and clinical services and payment of clinical personnel.

Allotment increases to the counties include:

Barbour $1,700, Brooke 2,300, Calhoun 1,400, Doddridge 1,300, Gilmer 1,400, Grant 1,400, Hampshire 1,600, Hancock 3,000, Hardy 1,500, Harrison 4,400, Jackson 1,800, Lewis 2,000.

Legion Assists In Distributing Surplus Foods

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Effective Tuesday, April 18, surplus commodities will be issued at the American Legion home next to the new Post Office building instead of at the White House Restaurant in South Moorefield.

The change in the place of issuing the surplus commodities was necessitated when the storeroom in South Moorefield was no longer available.

Legion officials pointed out that the new place of issuance is temporary until a suitable place can be found. Commodities will be issued starting at 1 p. m. and recipients will be required to maintain an orderly line.

Weather Sets Back Farmers 10 Days

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia farmers have been set a week to 10 days behind in their spring plowing and planting by cold, wet weather this month.

However, wheat and barley came through the winter in excellent condition, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said Wednesday. Heavy snow protected the crops during freezing weather.

The report said some tobacco beds have been prepared but planting has been slowed by bad weather. The service said peach, pear and cherry trees are blooming in the lower levels.

Milwaukee Downs St. Louis; Giants Edge Bucs In 12th

Face Loser On Kuenn's Single, 6-5

Rookie Hurler Opens Rally With Double; Three Homers Hit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Rookie pitcher Jim Duffalo, who had given up a bases - loaded walk in the 11th inning, smacked a double Thursday to open the 12th and start the San Francisco Giants on the way to a 6-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Harvey Kuenn, the veteran American Leaguer now playing third base for the Giants, delivered the winning hit, a line single into left field which brought home Darrell Bowman, running for Duffalo, from third base. The hurler from DuBois, Pa., had reached third on Felipe Alou's infield single, a grounder which was gloved by first baseman Rocky Nelson who found the bag uncovered.

The loss went to Elroy Face, Pittsburgh's relief artist, who was the third hurler to work for the Pirates.

Face had taken over in the 11th from Bobby Shantz after Pittsburgh had gone ahead 5-4 when Dick Groat worked Duffalo for a bases - loaded walk in the top of the frame. But Hobie Landrith, who had been knocked down to number three spot in the Giants catching department, tied the score for the second time of the day with the first home run he ever has hit in Candlestick Park.

The lead changed hands a total of five times with Pittsburgh getting off to a 2-0 margin in the third inning on Groat's triple after Smokey Burgess and Bill Virdon had singled. Ed Bressoud's three-run homer off starter Harvey Haddix put San Francisco ahead in the fourth but a solo blast by Nelson in the sixth off Jack Sanford tied the score again.

Lynch's Pinch Homer Wins Game

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Jerry Lynch pinch hitting for Jim Baumer in the eighth inning, hit Chicago Cub relief pitcher Jim Brewer's first pitch for a three-run homer that gave the Cincinnati Reds a 5-2 victory Thursday.

Bob Purkey went the route for the Reds, limiting the Cubs to eight hits. The Reds rapped three Cubs hurlers for 14 hits, but left nine runners stranded. The Cubs executed four double plays.

Two walks, one intentional, preceded Lynch's homer. Brewer had just replaced right-hander Joe Schaffernoth.

Doubles by Ron Santo and Ernie Banks gave the Cubs a run in the second inning. Another run scored in the third inning on Don Zimmer's double and Bill Williams' swinging bunt which catcher Ed Bailey threw wild past first.

Braves Top Cardinals In 11th, 5 To 4

McDaniel Is Loser When Roach Walks With Sacks Loaded

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—St. Louis relief ace Lindy McDaniel walked Mel Roach with the bases loaded in the 11th inning Thursday to give the Milwaukee Braves a 5-4 victory over the Cardinals before only 6,448 persons.

Successive singles by Frank Bolling and Joe Adcock and a hit batsman loaded the bases and Milwaukee manager Charlie Dressen called Roach from the bench to hit for rookie John De Merit. McDaniel, who saved the Cardinals 2-1 opening day victory over Milwaukee Tuesday, ran the count to three and two before issuing the free pass, scoring Bolling from third.

The Braves jumped off to a 4-1 lead after three innings, but the Cardinals pecked away to knot it up in the sixth inning on homers by Ken Boyer and Joe Cunningham.

Seth Morehead, the lefthanded reliever picked up from the Cubs only a few days ago, got credit for the win, stopping a Cardinal threat in the 10th and putting the Birds down 1-2-3 in the 11th.

Trade Rumors Are Stirred Up For Yankees

N.Y. Has 4 Catchers, Seeks Pinch-Hitter

NEW YORK (AP)—An off day and a rainout after the New York Yankees' dismal shutout on opening day have combined to stir up trade rumors for the American League champions.

"Orioles seek deal for Yank catcher," reads one newspaper. "Williams to Yanks despite Lane's fast deal?", asks another headline.

The stories refer to Wednesday's four-man swap between Baltimore and Kansas City that sent utility man Dick Williams and pitcher Dick Hall to the Orioles for pitcher Jerry Walker and outfielder Chuck Essegian. Williams is a handy man and a right-handed pinch hitter who would have fitted onto the Yankee roster.

Hamey, Lane To Talk

Roy Hamey, new general manager of the Yanks, said Thursday he had planned to talk to Frank Lane, general manager of the A's, about Williams. That is out now, of course. However, Lane will be here over the weekend. Hamey plans to talk with him.

"Sure, we are interested in a right-handed hitting pinch hitter," said Hamey. "And you always have to keep your eyes open for pitching. But just because we lost one game, doesn't mean we have to go all out to make a deal.

"Four or five clubs have said to me 'when you make up your mind to give up a catcher to get a pitcher, let us know.' We haven't made up our minds. As a matter of fact, Lane never asked me about a catcher. We have talked pitching, both his and ours. And I guess we will continue along the same lines this weekend."

Have Four Catchers

The Yanks are well fixed with four catchers—Yogi Berra, Elston Howard, John Blanchard and Jesse Gonder, a rookie. All but Howard are left-handed batters.

Among the clubs that could use catching help are Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, Washington and Kansas City. Baltimore, too, could be in trouble if anything happened to Gus Triandos.

Bill Sharman May Play With Chicago

BOSTON (UPI) — Backcourt star Bill Sharman may have played his last game for the Boston Celtics.

Persistent reports have indicated Sharman will be one of the four Boston players who will be made available to the new Chicago entry April 27. The Chicago officials will make a 10 man selection.

Celtics owner Walter Brown was asked if Sharman, who will be 35 next month, will be on the available list. "I can't say now that we're going to keep Sharman, or I can't say we're not," he said. "We'll do what we think is best for the ball club's future."

GOTEBORG, Sweden (UPI) — Ingemar Johansson hinted Thursday that heavy U.S. taxes might force him to accept an offer to fight top rated Sonny Liston here next September.

It was the fourth championship for the Purple Heart Club and tied the record held by the Knights. These teams have shared eight championships in the 14-year history of the the league.

Face Loser On Kuenn's Single, 6-5

Rookie Hurler Opens Rally With Double; Three Homers Hit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Rookie pitcher Jim Duffalo, who had given up a bases - loaded walk in the 11th inning, smacked a double Thursday to open the 12th and start the San Francisco Giants on the way to a 6-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Harvey Kuenn, the veteran American Leaguer now playing third base for the Giants, delivered the winning hit, a line single into left field which brought home Darrell Bowman, running for Duffalo, from third base. The hurler from DuBois, Pa., had reached third on Felipe Alou's infield single, a grounder which was gloved by first baseman Rocky Nelson who found the bag uncovered.

The loss went to Elroy Face, Pittsburgh's relief artist, who was the third hurler to work for the Pirates.

Face had taken over in the 11th from Bobby Shantz after Pittsburgh had gone ahead 5-4 when Dick Groat worked Duffalo for a bases - loaded walk in the top of the frame. But Hobie Landrith, who had been knocked down to number three spot in the Giants catching department, tied the score for the second time of the day with the first home run he ever has hit in Candlestick Park.

The lead changed hands a total of five times with Pittsburgh getting off to a 2-0 margin in the third inning on Groat's triple after Smokey Burgess and Bill Virdon had singled. Ed Bressoud's three-run homer off starter Harvey Haddix put San Francisco ahead in the fourth but a solo blast by Nelson in the sixth off Jack Sanford tied the score again.

Hamey, Lane To Talk

Roy Hamey, new general manager of the Yanks, said Thursday he had planned to talk to Frank Lane, general manager of the A's, about Williams. That is out now, of course. However, Lane will be here over the weekend. Hamey plans to talk with him.

"Sure, we are interested in a right-handed hitting pinch hitter," said Hamey. "And you always have to keep your eyes open for pitching. But just because we lost one game, doesn't mean we have to go all out to make a deal.

"Four or five clubs have said to me 'when you make up your mind to give up a catcher to get a pitcher, let us know.' We haven't made up our minds. As a matter of fact, Lane never asked me about a catcher. We have talked pitching, both his and ours. And I guess we will continue along the same lines this weekend."

Have Four Catchers

Among the clubs that could use catching help are Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, Washington and Kansas City. Baltimore, too, could be in trouble if anything happened to Gus Triandos.

Bill Sharman May Play With Chicago

BOSTON (UPI) — Backcourt star Bill Sharman may have played his last game for the Boston Celtics.

Persistent reports have indicated Sharman will be one of the four Boston players who will be made available to the new Chicago entry April 27. The Chicago officials will make a 10 man selection.

Celtics owner Walter Brown was asked if Sharman, who will be 35 next month, will be on the available list. "I can't say now that we're going to keep Sharman, or I can't say we're not," he said. "We'll do what we think is best for the ball club's future."

GOTEBORG, Sweden (UPI) — Ingemar Johansson hinted Thursday that heavy U.S. taxes might force him to accept an offer to fight top rated Sonny Liston here next September.

Braves Top Cardinals In 11th, 5 To 4

McDaniel Is Loser When Roach Walks With Sacks Loaded

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—St. Louis relief ace Lindy McDaniel walked Mel Roach with the bases loaded in the 11th inning Thursday to give the Milwaukee Braves a 5-4 victory over the Cardinals before only 6,448 persons.

Successive singles by Frank Bolling and Joe Adcock and a hit batsman loaded the bases and Milwaukee manager Charlie Dressen called Roach from the bench to hit for rookie John De Merit. McDaniel, who saved the Cardinals 2-1 opening day victory over Milwaukee Tuesday, ran the count to three and two before issuing the free pass, scoring Bolling from third.

The Braves jumped off to a 4-1 lead after three innings, but the Cardinals pecked away to knot it up in the sixth inning on homers by Ken Boyer and Joe Cunningham.

Seth Morehead, the lefthanded reliever picked up from the Cubs only a few days ago, got credit for the win, stopping a Cardinal threat in the 10th and putting the Birds down 1-2-3 in the 11th.

Ice Tampering Charge Marks Hockey Series

Black Hawks, Wings To Play Fifth Game

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The "win-at-home" Stanley Cup series which finds the Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings tied at two games each has turned into an argument of slow ice versus fast ice.

Detroit's Red Wings, who won just once in Chicago all year, insist the Hawks are tampering with the ice in the Chicago Stadium where the two teams resume the best-of-seven series Friday night.

Not so, say the Hawks.

Hawks Can't Help It

First of all, an ice show is appearing at the stadium and every time the hockey teams come in to play fresh ice has to be put in and there isn't enough time for it to harden.

John Gottselig, former Hawk star who now is the team's public relations director, says the bigger crowds in the stadium have a lot to do with it. Says Gottselig:

"We pack from three to four thousand more people in the stadium than they do in Detroit. It becomes warmer, there's more humidity and because of cigarette smoke, haze and dust settle on the ice and softness occurs on top of the ice."

Chicago Favored

Because of the apparent home ice advantage, the Hawks remain favorites to win the series since four games will be played in Chicago should it go the limit o fseven games.

After Friday night, the two teams go to Detroit for game No. 6 Sunday and, if necessary, return to Chicago for the finale Tuesday night.

Maryland Fans Get Double Dose Of Horse Racing

LAUREL Md. (AP)—Maryland racing fans may go on day and night binges starting Friday.

Harness horses will begin going around the Laurel Raceway for 24 nights. A couple of miles down the road (U.S. 1), the thoroughbreds are running in the afternoons at Laurel Race Course.

This double dose of the sport in the same area, about midway between Baltimore and Washington, will continue for three weeks.

It is the first conflict in Maryland racing between tracks of close proximity.

Laurel Raceway, first to offer harness racing in Maryland with pari mutuel betting, will be operating for its 14th season.

There will be nine trotting or pacing races nightly.

Kentucky Adopts New Racing Rule

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky State Racing Commission has adopted a rule to prohibit racing horses which are operated on to completely deaden the nerves in a leg.

Louis Cox, commission vice chairman, said Thursday the rule, which became effective April 5, was adopted because "we felt it would give more protection to the betting public."

The operation is called a bilateral neurotomy, in which both major leg nerves are cut. It deadens all feeling in the leg.

Grove Moves To Ohio Race Mishaps Similar

Cannon's Ace Is 58th Hop Caskey, 68, Dies

By C. V. BURNS

ROBERT MOSES "Lefty" Grove, who marked his 61st birthday last month, is now a resident of Norwalk, Ohio, according to an article in the Toledo Blade, which was sent to the writer by Pershing Rohrer, former Cumberland newspaperman who is now employed by the Defiance-Crescent News at Defiance, Ohio.

Grove moved to Ohio several weeks ago and is making his home with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Grove.

"Lefty was here over the Christmas holidays and liked the town," the Norwalk correspondent of The Blade writes. "He still has interests in Lonaconing, including a bowling alley, which he left in charge of a nephew.

"I'm just going to take it easy, help around the house, and be a companion to my granddaughter, Lynn, who is 12 years old, says Lefty.

"Lynn and I are going to see a lot of ball games in Cleveland and we're going to meet all the players."

For exercise, Lefty plans to take care of the yard and a project he plans to launch shortly, the building of a recreation room in the basement of his son's home.

Except for a minor ailment on his arrival in Ohio, the Hall of Famer is in top physical shape, tipping the beam at 214 pounds which is about four pounds more than he weighed at retirement.

The former major league pitching great has served three two-year terms as police commissioner at Lonaconing and attended his last council meeting there March 6. His third term will soon expire as the Lonaconing election is set for early next month.

Lefty's son Bobby will be remembered as a pitcher for Lonaconing in the old Bi-State Baseball League.

Rohrer says his son Tom is 16 months old and his dog, Bucky, is now eight years old.

"I think the World Series will be in Pittsburgh and Cleveland this year," writes the one-time sports editor of the LaSalle Torch, Cumberland Daily News reporter and owner of the once famed Cumberland Dragons basketball team.

WHEN Ray J. Cannon, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, made a hole-in-one last Saturday it was the 58th registered at the Cumberland Country Club since the course was opened 41 years ago.

The biggest year for aces at the Christie Road layout was 1959 when seven were recorded. Last year the total was five.

Cannon had a premonition this was his year because he had taken out hole-in-one insurance several days before he fired the shot that was heard around the B. & O. system.

FOUR HUNDRED and fifty athletes from 23 Pennsylvania and Ohio schools will vie in the East Palestine (Ohio) track meet Saturday.

East Palestine High School, the host, coached by Bill Ward, invades Cumberland to meet Paul Flick's Fort Hill thinclads in a dual affair April 29.

THE FILM PATROL of the accident that claimed the life of 22-year-old jockey Roy Gilbert at Aqueduct Race Course last week shows that the 2-year-old filly Plenty Papaya bolted toward the inner rail and tossed her rider.

Wasn't this tragedy similar to the one that occurred at Fairgo in 1948 when Alpine Boy took a sharp turn to the left, struck the inner rail and tossed Benny Leggett, causing him to suffer fatal injuries?

The Fairgo mishap was greatly overplayed by one Baltimore paper in particular and many persons were smeared who did not deserve it.

A Superior Court jury awarded John B. Hatfield $15,000 damages in a libel suit agains' a Baltimore paper which had incorrectly identified him as the trainer of Alpine Boy. He had not trained the horse since 1947. Dr. A. J. Gross, owner of the horse, also filed suit but settlement was reached out of court.

FOUNTAIN HEAD Country Club golfers lost their opening match of the season to the Frederick V.F.W. Country Club, 12½ to 5½ points.

Hagerstown is scheduled to host the Cumberland Country Club team Sunday, May 21.

Charles Herling, 32-year-old Baltimorean, is the new pro at Hagerstown, succeeding Bill Strausbaugh, who is now pro at the Turf Valley Country Club near Baltimore.

Herling was at Hillendale 10 years, Woodholme three years, served as head pro at Talbot Country Club at Easton and was at Laurel Pines last year.

Herling, incidently, was an applicant for the pro post at Maplehurst Country Club but accepted the job in the Hub City. The Frostburg Club is still dickering for the services of a pro.

CLAUDE Odell "Hop" Caskey, 68, one of Martinsburg's outstanding sportsmen, died the other day.

"Hop" was former owner of the Palace Recreation Center which he operated for about 50 years.

He was recognized as Martinsburg's "master duckpin artist" for many years and won numerous bowling tournaments.

Caskey was also an accomplished billiards player and was active in the organization of the old Blue Ridge Baseball League.

He served six terms on the City Council and was a member of the Berkeley County Democratic Executive Committee.

Charles Caskey, a half-brother, resides in Cumberland.

A FUNNY baseball story concerns Filomena Ortega, Dodgers' rookie pitcher, who is part Indian.

The Phils and Dodgers were after him at the same time, and the former club sent fullblooded Indian Ben Tincup to try to sign Ortega.

After Los Angeles did, Buzzy Bavasi wired the Phillies' Jim Gallagher:

"Don't you know Tincup's tribe and Ortega's have been at war for 100 years?"

Wagman Indicted On Bribe Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—Aaron Wagman, one of two gambling figures arrested on charges of bribing basketball players, was indicted Thursday on three counts accusing him of trying to bribe a detective.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said the indictment was limited to accusations that Wagman sought to bribe one of Hogan's men. However, the grand jury still is investigating charges that Wagman and another man bribed basketball players.

Specifically, Wagman, 28, of New York, is charged with trying to bribe Detective David F. Campbell in return for information about the district attorney's investigation into basketball bribery.

Machen May Land Bout With Champ

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson said Thursday Eddie Machen "right now" has a better chance than Britain's Henry Cooper of getting a title fight next September.

In an interview, Patterson said: "Right now we're closer to a fight with Machen than with Cooper. Cooper's people wanted to dictate the terms as though we need them."

After he knocked out Ingemar Johansson at Miami Beach, Fla., March 13, Patterson named Cooper, the British champion, and Machen, the No. 2 contender from Portland, Ore., as the most likely opponents for a title fight in New York in September.

Sifford Leads In Greensboro

Negro Pro Shoots First Round 68

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Charlie Sifford, Negro professional from Los Angeles, cracked golf's Deep South color line Thursday by using 68 strokes to take the first-round lead in the $22,500 Greater Greensboro Open Tournament.

The 38-year-old Charlotte, N.C., native, marked the first appearance of a member of his race in a major PGA event in the South by putting together a pair of 34s in a three-under-par performance that gave him a one-shot lead over Billy Maxwell of Dallas, Tex.

Sifford, noted more for his booming tee shots, used finesse around the greens to take the lead. He had 12 one-putt greens and needed 24 putts in all.

Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., missed a chance to tie Sifford when he took a double bogey six on No. 17 and finished with 70 to tie Grensboro amateur Bill Harvey for third place.

Six men tied at par 71 in the field of 115 who tested the 7,000-yard Sedgefield Country Club course.

Aussies Advance In River Oaks Play

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Australian's Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson gained the semifinals of the 27th River Oaks Tennis Tournament Thursday by taking straight sets from Ron Holmberg and Hamilton Richardson.

The top-seeded Fraser defeated Holmbert, the No. 5 U.S. player, from Brooklyn, N.Y., 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

Emerson, seeded third, defeated Richardson, former U.S. Davis Cup player, 6-4, 8-6, 6-1.

Well, the Bucs and the Bombers and all 16 other teams are underway in this great experimental baseball year of 1961.

Much comment and many guesses have been bandied about concerning the addition of two teams to the American league . . . the chances of the World Champion Pirates (and every other team, of course) . . . the merits of various players, etc., etc., etc.

Matter of fact, about the only thing we haven't yet heard is that someone will break the Babe's record of 60 homers in one season. That, no doubt, will come in due time.

Need it be said that this is the season for watching or listening . . . cheering or jeering . . . for enjoying in ones own personal fashion the great American game.

Carry Back Big Question Mark For Kentucky Derby

Trip To Louisville Depends On Colt's Showing In Wood

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Carry Back, who beat everything in Florida to emerge the favorite for the Kentucky Derby, still is a big question mark for the 3-year-old horse racing classic at Louisville, his trainer said Thursday.

The Florida-bred colt was flown from sunny Miami to cold, rain-swept New York late Wednesday.

Wood Next Objective

His next objective is the $75,000-added Wood Memorial at Aqueduct April 22, two weeks before the derby at Churchill Downs.

"Whether we go to Louisville for the derby all depends on how he comes out of the Wood, and he doesn't have to win that race either," said trainer Jack Price.

"In other words, he can win the Wood and still not run in the derby, and he can lose here—even finish last—and go to Kentucky. Right now, I feel he was never in better shape. He has raced six times this year, and has come back after each one better than he went into it."

The 1⅛-mile Wood is the final major Eastern test for the derby, and Carry Back will be meeting some new opposition.

Respects Ambiopoise

Price said Ambiopoise, winner of the Gotham at Aqueduct last Saturday, "is the only horse I'm worried about in the Wood."

Carry Back beat Ambiopoise last fall by 3½ lengths in the Garden State Stakes, both packing 122 pounds.

"We beat him again, by about a length, in the Remsen at Aqueduct 10 days later, and my horse had 120 pounds, 7 more than Ambiopoise," said Price. "So perhaps we can do it again."

Ice Tampering Charge Marks Hockey Series

Black Hawks, Wings To Play Fifth Game

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The "win-at-home" Stanley Cup series which finds the Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings tied at two games each has turned into an argument of slow ice versus fast ice.

Detroit's Red Wings, who won just once in Chicago all year, insist the Hawks are tampering with the ice in the Chicago Stadium where the two teams resume the best-of-seven series Friday night.

Not so, say the Hawks.

Hawks Can't Help It

The ice in the stadium has ben soft and slow but the Hawks claim they can't help it.

First of all, an ice show is appearing at the stadium and every time the hockey teams come in to play fresh ice has to be put in and there isn't enough time for it to harden.

John Gottselig, former Hawk star who now is the team's public relations director, says the bigger crowds in the stadium have a lot to do with it. Says Gottselig:

"We pack from three to four thousand more people in the stadium than they do in Detroit. It becomes warmer, there's more humidity and because of cigarette smoke, haze and dust settle on the ice and softness occurs on top of the ice."

Chicago Favored

Because of the apparent home ice advantage, the Hawks remain favorites to win the series since four games will be played in Chicago should it go the limit o fseven games.

After Friday night, the two teams go to Detroit for game No. 6 Sunday and, if necessary, return to Chicago for the finale Tuesday night.

Maryland Fans Get Double Dose Of Horse Racing

LAUREL Md. (AP)—Maryland racing fans may go on day and night binges starting Friday.

Harness horses will begin going around the Laurel Raceway for 24 nights. A couple of miles down the road (U.S. 1), the thoroughbreds are running in the afternoons at Laurel Race Course.

This double dose of the sport in the same area, about midway between Baltimore and Washington, will continue for three weeks.

It is the first conflict in Maryland racing between tracks of close proximity.

Laurel Raceway, first to offer harness racing in Maryland with pari mutuel betting, will be operating for its 14th season.

There will be nine trotting or pacing races nightly.

Kentucky Adopts New Racing Rule

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky State Racing Commission has adopted a rule to prohibit racing horses which are operated on to completely deaden the nerves in a leg.

Louis Cox, commission vice chairman, said Thursday the rule, which became effective April 5, was adopted because "we felt it would give more protection to the betting public."

The operation is called a bilateral neurotomy, in which both major leg nerves are cut. It deadens all feeling in the leg.

Grove Moves To Ohio — Race Mishaps Similar

By C. V. BURNS

ROBERT MOSES "Lefty" Grove, who marked his 61st birthday last month, is now a resident of Norwalk, Ohio, according to an article in the Toledo Blade, which was sent to the writer by Pershing Rohrer, former Cumberland newspaperman who is now employed by the Defiance-Crescent News at Defiance, Ohio.

Grove moved to Ohio several weeks ago and is making his home with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Grove.

"Lefty was here over the Christmas holidays and liked the town," the Norwalk correspondent of The Blade writes. "He still has interests in Lonaconing, including a bowling alley, which he left in charge of a nephew.

"I'm just going to take it easy, help around the house, and be a companion to my granddaughter, Lynn, who is 12 years old, says Lefty.

"Lynn and I are going to see a lot of ball games in Cleveland and we're going to meet all the players."

For exercise, Lefty plans to take care of the yard and a project he plans to launch shortly, the building of a recreation room in the basement of his son's home.

Except for a minor ailment on his arrival in Ohio, the Hall of Famer is in top physical shape, tipping the beam at 214 pounds which is about four pounds more than he weighed at retirement.

The former major league pitching great has served three two-year terms as police commissioner at Lonaconing and attended his last council meeting there March 6. His third term will soon expire as the Lonaconing election is set for early next month.

Lefty's son Bobby will be remembered as a pitcher for Lonaconing in the old Bi-State Baseball League.

Rohrer says his son Tom is 16 months old and his dog, Bucky, is now eight years old.

"I think the World Series will be in Pittsburgh and Cleveland this year," writes the one-time sports editor of the LaSalle Torch, Cumberland Daily News reporter and owner of the once famed Cumberland Dragons basketball team.

WHEN Ray J. Cannon, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, made a hole-in-one last Saturday it was the 58th registered at the Cumberland Country Club since the course was opened 41 years ago.

The biggest year for aces at the Christie Road layout was 1959 when seven were recorded. Last year the total was five.

Cannon had a premonition this was his year because he had taken out hole-in-one insurance several days before he fired the shot that was heard around the B. & O. system.

FOUR HUNDRED and fifty athletes from 23 Pennsylvania and Ohio schools will vie in the East Palestine (Ohio) track meet Saturday.

East Palestine High School, the host, coached by Bill Ward, invades Cumberland to meet Paul Flick's Fort Hill thinclads in a dual affair April 29.

THE FILM PATROL of the accident that claimed the life of 22-year-old jockey Roy Gilbert at Aqueduct Race Course last week shows that the 2-year-old filly Plenty Papaya bolted toward the inner rail and tossed her rider.

Wasn't this tragedy similar to the one that occurred at Fairgo in 1948 when Alpine Boy took a sharp turn to the left, struck the inner rail and tossed Benny Leggett, causing him to suffer fatal injuries?

The Fairgo mishap was greatly overplayed by one Baltimore paper in particular and many persons were smeared who did not deserve it.

A Superior Court jury awarded John B. Hatfield $15,000 damages in a libel suit agains' a Baltimore paper which had incorrectly identified him as the trainer of Alpine Boy. He had not trained the horse since 1947. Dr. A. J. Gross, owner of the horse, also filed suit but settlement was reached out of court.

FOUNTAIN HEAD Country Club golfers lost their opening match of the season to the Frederick V.F.W. Country Club, 12½ to 5½ points.

Hagerstown is scheduled to host the Cumberland Country Club team Sunday, May 21.

Charles Herling, 32-year-old Baltimorean, is the new pro at Hagerstown, succeeding Bill Strausbaugh, who is now pro at the Turf Valley Country Club near Baltimore.

Herling was at Hillendale 10 years, Woodholme three years, served as head pro at Talbot Country Club at Easton and was at Laurel Pines last year.

Herling, incidently, was an applicant for the pro post at Maplehurst Country Club but accepted the job in the Hub City. The Frostburg Club is still dickering for the services of a pro.

CLAUDE Odell "Hop" Caskey, 68, one of Martinsburg's outstanding sportsmen, died the other day.

"Hop" was former owner of the Palace Recreation Center which he operated for about 50 years.

He was recognized as Martinsburg's "master duckpin artist" for many years and won numerous bowling tournaments.

Caskey was also an accomplished billiards player and was active in the organization of the old Blue Ridge Baseball League.

He served six terms on the City Council and was a member of the Berkeley County Democratic Executive Committee.

Charles Caskey, a half-brother, resides in Cumberland.

A FUNNY baseball story concerns Filomena Ortega, Dodgers' rookie pitcher, who is part Indian.

The Phils and Dodgers were after him at the same time, and the former club sent fullblooded Indian Ben Tincup to try to sign Ortega.

After Los Angeles did, Buzzy Bavasi wired the Phillies' Jim Gallagher:

"Don't you know Tincup's tribe and Ortega's have been at war for 100 years?"

Wagman Indicted On Bribe Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—Aaron Wagman, one of two gambling figures arrested on charges of bribing basketball players, was indicted Thursday on three counts accusing him of trying to bribe a detective.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said the indictment was limited to accusations that Wagman sought to bribe one of Hogan's men. However, the grand jury still is investigating charges that Wagman and another man bribed basketball players.

Specifically, Wagman, 28, of New York, is charged with trying to bribe Detective David F. Campbell in return for information about the district attorney's investigation into basketball bribery.

Machen May Land Bout With Champ

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson said Thursday Eddie Machen "right now" has a better chance than Britain's Henry Cooper of getting a title fight next September.

In an interview, Patterson said: "Right now we're closer to a fight with Machen than with Cooper. Cooper's people wanted to dictate the terms as though we need them."

After he knocked out Ingemar Johansson at Miami Beach, Fla., March 13, Patterson named Cooper, the British champion, and Machen, the No. 2 contender from Portland, Ore., as the most likely opponents for a title fight in New York in September.

Sifford Leads In Greensboro

Negro Pro Shoots First Round 68

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Charlie Sifford, Negro professional from Los Angeles, cracked golf's Deep South color line Thursday by using 68 strokes to take the first-round lead in the $22,500 Greater Greensboro Open Tournament.

The 38-year-old Charlotte, N.C., native, marked the first appearance of a member of his race in a major PGA event in the South by putting together a pair of 34s in a three-under-par performance that gave him a one-shot lead over Billy Maxwell of Dallas, Tex.

Sifford, noted more for his booming tee shots, used finesse around the greens to take the lead. He had 12 one-putt greens and needed 24 putts in all.

Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., missed a chance to tie Sifford when he took a double bogey six on No. 17 and finished with 70 to tie Grensboro amateur Bill Harvey for third place.

Six men tied at par 71 in the field of 115 who tested the 7,000-yard Sedgefield Country Club course.

Aussies Advance In River Oaks Play

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Australian's Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson gained the semifinals of the 27th River Oaks Tennis Tournament Thursday by taking straight sets from Ron Holmberg and Hamilton Richardson.

The top-seeded Fraser defeated Holmbert, the No. 5 U.S. player, from Brooklyn, N.Y., 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

the Cas Taylors

Well, the Bucs and the Bombers and all 16 other teams are underway in this great experimental baseball year of 1961.

Much comment and many guesses have been bandied about concerning the addition of two teams to the American league . . . the chances of the World Champion Pirates (and every other team, of course) . . . the merits of various players, etc., etc., etc.

Matter of fact, about the only thing we haven't yet heard is that someone will break the Babe's record of 60 homers in one season. That, no doubt, will come in due time.

Need it be said that this is the season for watching or listening . . . cheering or jeering . . . for enjoying in ones own personal fashion the great American game.

Ah, 'tis great to have baseball with us again. Come join us in being excited about the new season and while you're here sample our succulent food, tempting drinks, and comfortable atmosphere. You'll find it all at The Cas Taylors', corner N. Mechanic and Valley Streets.

Carry Back Big Question Mark For Kentucky Derby

Trip To Louisville Depends On Colt's Showing In Wood

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Carry Back, who beat everything in Florida to emerge the favorite for the Kentucky Derby, still is a big question mark for the 3-year-old horse racing classic at Louisville, his trainer said Thursday.

The Florida-bred colt was flown from sunny Miami to cold, rain-swept New York late Wednesday.

Wood Next Objective

His next objective is the $75,000-added Wood Memorial at Aqueduct April 22, two weeks before the derby at Churchill Downs.

"Whether we go to Louisville for the derby all depends on how he comes out of the Wood, and he doesn't have to win that race either," said trainer Jack Price.

"In other words, he can win the Wood and still not run in the derby, and he can lose here—even finish last—and go to Kentucky. Right now, I feel he was never in better shape. He has raced six times this year, and has come back after each one better than he went into it."

The 1⅛-mile Wood is the final major Eastern test for the derby, and Carry Back will be meeting some new opposition.

Respects Ambiopoise

Price said Ambiopoise, winner of the Gotham at Aqueduct last Saturday, "is the only horse I'm worried about in the Wood."

Carry Back beat Ambiopoise last fall by 3½ lengths in the Garden State Stakes, both packing 122 pounds.

"We beat him again, by about a length, in the Remsen at Aqueduct 10 days later, and my horse had 120 pounds, 7 more than Ambiopoise," said Price. "So perhaps we can do it again."

Kentucky Derby Eligibles Race On West Coast

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Seven 3-year-olds, including six eligible for the Kentucky Derby, will race at Golden Gate Fields Saturday in the historic California Derby.

If all seven go, the gross purse reaches $60,100 with $37,600 to the winner.

Alberta Ranches' Flutterby is the almost certain favorite carrying 119 pounds for the 1⅛-mile test with Johnny Longden in the irons.

Under the allowance conditions, the other entries will carry 116 pounds. Larry Gilligan will ride the Kerr Stables' Gay Landing and Bobby Mundorf is aboard stablemate Mr. Consistency.

Others expected to start are millionaire C. V. Whitney's Songman, winner over Flutterby by a neck in the one-mile California Derby.

The California Derby was inaugurated in 1873.

Twenty years ago Whirlaway won the Kentucky Derby and his time for that distance, 2:01 2/5, still stands as the record.

Kentucky Derby Eligibles Race On West Coast

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Seven 3-year-olds, including six eligible for the Kentucky Derby, will race at Golden Gate Fields Saturday in the historic California Derby.

If all seven go, the gross purse reaches $60,100 with $37,600 to the winner.

Alberta Ranches' Flutterby is the almost certain favorite carrying 119 pounds for the 1⅛-mile test with Johnny Longden in the irons.

Under the allowance conditions, the other entries will carry 116 pounds. Larry Gilligan will ride the Kerr Stables' Gay Landing and Bobby Mundorf is aboard stablemate Mr. Consistency.

The California Derby was inaugurated in 1873.

Twenty years ago Whirlaway won the Kentucky Derby and his time for that distance, 2:01 2/5, still stands as the record.

Narrow Market Closes Mixed; Turnover Drops

NEW YORK (UPI) — Blue chip stocks paced a mild afternoon rally Thursday, giving the market an irregular gain on the smallest turnover in 12 sessions.

Transactions for the day totaled 4,770,000 shares, 100,000 less than Wednesday, but the tape fell behind floor transactions in the first half hour of trading and again at the close with the market pulling ahead.

In terms of breadth, the market was the narrowest of the week on 1,282 issues traded, 483 showing advances and 561 declines. New highs totaled 87 and new lows seven.

The Dow - Jones industrial average finished at 692.02 up 1.86 on gains of over a point in Du Pont, General Foods, Texaco and Union Carbide, a point in International Nickel and Johns-Manville, and 2 in Procter & Gamble. Owens-Illinois lost 1½ and Jersey Standard 1¼.

Rails showed a gain of 0.24 at 143.17, reflecting a 2¼-point improvement in Louisville & Nashville. The utility component closed at 112.13, up 0.02 on strictly fractional moves.

The more comprehensive Standard & Poor's index showed a loss of 0.05 in both 425 industrials and 500 stocks, indicating that the late rally was concentrated chiefly among the market bluebloods.

Narrow Market Closes Mixed; Turnover Drops

NEW YORK (UPI) — Blue chip stocks paced a mild afternoon rally Thursday, giving the market an irregular gain on the smallest turnover in 12 sessions.

Transactions for the day totaled 4,770,000 shares, 100,000 less than Wednesday, but the tape fell behind floor transactions in the first half hour of trading and again at the close with the market pulling ahead.

In terms of breadth, the market was the narrowest of the week on 1,282 issues traded, 483 showing advances and 561 declines. New highs totaled 87 and new lows seven.

The Dow - Jones industrial average finished at 692.02 up 1.86 on gains of over a point in Du Pont, General Foods, Texaco and Union Carbide, a point in International Nickel and Johns-Manville, and 2 in Procter & Gamble. Owens-Illinois lost 1½ and Jersey Standard 1¼.

Rails showed a gain of 0.24 at 143.17, reflecting a 2¼-point improvement in Louisville & Nashville. The utility component closed at 112.13, up 0.02 on strictly fractional moves.

The more comprehensive Standard & Poor's index showed a loss of 0.05 in both 425 industrials and 500 stocks, indicating that the late rally was concentrated chiefly among the market bluebloods.

Cards of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to all my friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to me during the illness and following the death of my beloved husband, Charles Lester Creek. I especially wish to thank Rev. Jacob Snyder, those who sent flowers, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, the pallbearers and all others who in any manner rendered assistance.
MRS. CHARLES LESTER CREEK

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness during our bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Mr. James W. Stevenson Sr. We especially wish to thank Rev. Lewis Emerick, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars, and all others who assisted us. To all we are indeed grateful.
THE STEVENSON FAMILY

I wish to thank all my kind friends and neighbors for their many expressions of love and concern during my hospital stay following an accident, and for the dozens of pretty "Get-Well Cards", beautiful flowers and potted plants, — a special "Thank You" to the Frostburg Elks for their kind remembrances. Thanks to all for everything.
MISS MARGARET HOSKEN

Cards of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to all my friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to me during the illness and following the death of my beloved husband, Charles Lester Creek. I especially wish to thank Rev. Jacob Snyder, those who sent flowers, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, the pallbearers and all others who in any manner rendered assistance.
MRS. CHARLES LESTER CREEK

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness during our bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Mr. James W. Stevenson Sr. We especially wish to thank Rev. Lewis Emerick, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars, and all others who assisted us. To all we are indeed grateful.
THE STEVENSON FAMILY

I wish to thank all my kind friends and neighbors for their many expressions of love and concern during my hospital stay following an accident, and for the dozens of pretty "Get-Well Cards", beautiful flowers and potted plants, — a special "Thank You" to the Frostburg Elks for their kind remembrances. Thanks to all for everything.
MISS MARGARET HOSKEN

Tawes Regrets Failure Of His Frostburg Plan

Hopes State Can Get Started On Program

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes told the Dundalk Rotary Club Thursday night it is still "too early to pass a final judgment" upon the 1961 General Assembly.

The governor, in briefly assessing the assembly's major actions, did express regret at the failure of his plans to convert Frostburg State Teachers College into a branch of the University of Maryland and reapportion the House of Delegates

He steered clear of the current furor over the state's 8th Congressional District by saying "we must await developments in this matter."

On the positive side of the ledger, Tawes cited legislation dealing with regulation of savings and loan firms, driver training in high schools, the Baltimore Municipal Court and Transit Authority bills, the budget, and other proposals as examples of accomplishments at the recent 90-day session.

Tawes said the 8th district plan was "fraught with controversy" as expected.

Awaits Developments

"I understand that a movement is under way to challenge by referendum the action of our lawmakers," the governor said. "We must await developments in this matter."

The proposal passed by the General Assembly created the 8th Congressional District by carving Howard and Prince Georges counties from the populous 5th District. The additional district was authorized by the state's rapid population increase as shown in the 1960 census.

A movement to force the new district plan to a referendum in 1962 has been gaining momentum.

Tawes had this to say on Frostburg:

Orders Study

"I regret that the General Assembly chose to reject my proposal to convert the Frostburg State Teachers College into an arts-and-sciences branch of the University of Maryland, a plan I had conceived as the first phase of a broad program for the expansion of our system of higher education.

"I have ordered a continuation of studies of this problem with the hope that conflicting views on the subjects may be reconciled so that the state can get on with this most urgent program."

On reapportionment, Tawes said:

"It is regrettable, too, I think, that my proposal to reapportion the General Assembly once again failed to get the support it needed for passage.

"I am concinced that this issue will remain alive until the General Assembly takes action to meet the public demand for a more equitable representation."

Vote Is Close

The Frostburg bill and the reapportionment measure were the major administration failures of the recent session. Both failed by but a single vote—the Frostburg bill in the House Education Committee and the reapportionment proposal on the House floor.

Tawes said the legislature's enactment of his $520 million budget—largest in Maryland's history—"supports existing programs and at the same time provides for a normal, healthy expansion of many services considered essential to the well-being of the people."

The governor also expressed his satisfaction with bills which consolidated the governing bodies of the Departments of Health and Mental Hygiene, transferred the Department of Research and Education to the University of Maryland and provided salary increases and additional troopers for the Maryland State Police.

City License Applications Are Coming In

Applications for city licenses due May 1 are being received by City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

Forms were mailed recently by the City Clerk's office to the firms and individuals who held city licenses last year.

Mr. Ullery said the list of businesses or occupations subject to licensing is the same as last year, since no new ordinances on the subject were passed last year.

Licenses issued by the City of Cumberland are considered regulatory and give the municipality the right to regulate and control the activity which is being licensed.

Revenue is only incidental, as all city licenses bring in less than $10,000 a year.

In general, the city licenses parking lots, the sale of second-hand goods (including used cars), sale of scrap metal and rubber (junk yards), pawnbrokers, sound trucks, pinball machines, pool rooms, handbill distribution, fortune telling, shooting galleries, hotels which do not hold liquor licenses, and the sale of produce from wagons or motor vehicles.

Licenses must also be secured for advertising a retail sale of any merchandise immediately imported when the sale is conducted and advertised in such terms as a "removal"' or "fire" sale.

Holy Cross Will Break Ground Sunday

Episcopal Bishop Will Officiate

Ground will be broken Sunday morning for the new building of Holy Cross Episcopal Church at the intersection of Brookfield and Greenway avenues, Rev. William J. Cox, vicar, announced.

He said Right Rev. Noble C. Powell, Episcopal bishop of Maryland, will officiate at the ceremony at 9:30 a. m.

The present church is at 16 Virginia Avenue. Father Cox said the congregation approved plans for the construction of a new church about a year ago.

The architect firm of Chapman and Burger of Hagerstown designed the split-level structure, which will be of contemporary design and brick construction with an overall measurement of 85 by 46 feet.

Father Cox said there are compelling needs for the new building. He pointed out that Holy Cross originally served the spiritual needs of the immediate neighborhood, and communicants now live in every part of the city and outlying districts.

In the past four years, he said, the church has doubled the size of its congregation.

The cornerstone of the present chapel, more properly known as the Memorial House of the Holy Cross, South Cumberland, was laid on June 13, 1891, nearly 70 years ago.

Believed to be one of the oldest in that section of town, the structure was built by Miss Mary C. Perry and her brothers, Thornton and E. Tayloe Perry in memory of their mother, Mrs. Estelle Taylor Perry.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Edward J. Peck Jr., a young man who ties his name with such controversial legislation as reapportionment, minimum wage, teachers' pay and civil rights, was sworn in Thursday as Youth Governor of Maryland's 1961 Model Legislature.

The new governor, a lean six-footer with wavy black hair, said he would push an 8-point legislative program. Peck listed reapportionment, a 75-cent minimum wage, a general teachers' pay raise and an equal accommodation bill among major goals of his administration.

Peck also indicated he would favor statewide standards for county jails, obscene literature legislation, improvements in state mental and penal institutions and an improvement in the state's high school standards.

The last sweep by a single city was in 1959 when the three elected officials came from Hagerstown.

Transportation, motor vehicles and aviation — Yvonne Stutzman, Peggy Groves, Charlene Sibley.

Education — Richard Tosh, Seldon Harris, Thomas Lowery.

Cecil George Grove, 35, of Frostburg yesterday was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction following a hearing in Juvenile Court on a non-support charge.

During yesterday's hearing it was brought out in the testimony that Grove deserted his wife and family on March 3 and the family was forced to be placed on the welfare rolls of the county.

Magistrate Fatkin said there have been entirely too many such cases recently where husbands desert their families and the county is forced to support them through welfare.

The magistrate issued a warning that any such future cases will be dealt with severely by the court.

Bar Group Changes Mind

BALTIMORE (AP) — The local bar association voted Thursday to recommend to Governor Tawes that he ignore a list submitted to him for judges of the new municipal court of Baltimore City.

The vote was on a resolution introduced by Hyman A. Pressman that the governor ignore a list of 40 names submitted to him by the bar's judiciary committee.

The resolution stated that the association's members "have indicated they are dissatisfied with the list of recommendations heretofore made by the committee on judiciary pertaining to the appointment of judges to the Municipal Court of Baltimore."

The committee had recommended the appointment of Leon P. Abramson, Thomas F. Kenney or T. Barton Harrington as chief judge plus 37 others.

The action instructs the Governor to disregard the nominees selected by the association's own subcommittee. Tawes had said he was not bound by the recommendations anyway.

Tawes Regrets Failure Of His Frostburg Plan

Hopes State Can Get Started On Program

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes told the Dundalk Rotary Club Thursday night it is still "too early to pass a final judgment" upon the 1961 General Assembly.

The governor, in briefly assessing the assembly's major actions, did express regret at the failure of his plans to convert Frostburg State Teachers College into a branch of the University of Maryland and reapportion the House of Delegates

He steered clear of the current furor over the state's 8th Congressional District by saying "we must await developments in this matter."

On the positive side of the ledger, Tawes cited legislation dealing with regulation of savings and loan firms, driver training in high schools, the Baltimore Municipal Court and Transit Authority bills, the budget, and other proposals as examples of accomplishments at the recent 90-day session.

Tawes said the 8th district plan was "fraught with controversy" as expected.

Awaits Developments

"I understand that a movement is under way to challenge by referendum the action of our lawmakers," the governor said. "We must await developments in this matter."

The proposal passed by the General Assembly created the 8th Congressional District by carving Howard and Prince Georges counties from the populous 5th District. The additional district was authorized by the state's rapid population increase as shown in the 1960 census.

A movement to force the new district plan to a referendum in 1962 has been gaining momentum.

Tawes had this to say on Frostburg:

Orders Study

"I regret that the General Assembly chose to reject my proposal to convert the Frostburg State Teachers College into an arts-and-sciences branch of the University of Maryland, a plan I had conceived as the first phase of a broad program for the expansion of our system of higher education.

"I have ordered a continuation of studies of this problem with the hope that conflicting views on the subjects may be reconciled so that the state can get on with this most urgent program."

On reapportionment, Tawes said:

"It is regrettable, too, I think, that my proposal to reapportion the General Assembly once again failed to get the support it needed for passage.

"I am concinced that this issue will remain alive until the General Assembly takes action to meet the public demand for a more equitable representation."

Vote Is Close

The Frostburg bill and the reapportionment measure were the major administration failures of the recent session. Both failed by but a single vote—the Frostburg bill in the House Education Committee and the reapportionment proposal on the House floor.

Tawes said the legislature's enactment of his $520 million budget—largest in Maryland's history—"supports existing programs and at the same time provides for a normal, healthy expansion of many services considered essential to the well-being of the people."

The governor also expressed his satisfaction with bills which consolidated the governing bodies of the Departments of Health and Mental Hygiene, transferred the Department of Research and Education to the University of Maryland and provided salary increases and additional troopers for the Maryland State Police.

Annapolis Youths Win 3 Top 'Legislature' Offices

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Edward J. Peck Jr., a young man who ties his name with such controversial legislation as reapportionment, minimum wage, teachers' pay and civil rights, was sworn in Thursday as Youth Governor of Maryland's 1961 Model Legislature.

Peck, an 18-year-old Annapolis High School student, led an Annapolis sweep of the major officers elected Thursday.

Howard W. Tukes and George Samaras, both of the city, were chosen as president of the Senate and speaker of the House respectively.

The 1961 YMCA-sponsored assembly got down to serious business Thursday after gathering here Wednesday night.

Some 190 high school students representing Maryland Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs from west of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge are attending the three-day sessions.

The new governor, a lean six-footer with wavy black hair, said he would push an 8-point legislative program. Peck listed reapportionment, a 75-cent minimum wage, a general teachers' pay raise and an equal accommodation bill among major goals of his administration.

Peck also indicated he would favor statewide standards for county jails, obscene literature legislation, improvements in state mental and penal institutions and an improvement in the state's high school standards.

The last sweep by a single city was in 1959 when the three elected officials came from Hagerstown.

Education — Richard Tosh, Seldon Harris, Thomas Lowery.

Labor, industry, natural resources — Paul Barry, Gene Robertson, Philip VanNewkirk, Robert Snyder.

Holy Cross Will Break Ground Sunday

Episcopal Bishop Will Officiate

Ground will be broken Sunday morning for the new building of Holy Cross Episcopal Church at the intersection of Brookfield and Greenway avenues, Rev. William J. Cox, vicar, announced.

He said Right Rev. Noble C. Powell, Episcopal bishop of Maryland, will officiate at the ceremony at 9:30 a. m.

The present church is at 16 Virginia Avenue. Father Cox said the congregation approved plans for the construction of a new church about a year ago.

The architect firm of Chapman and Burger of Hagerstown designed the split-level structure, which will be of contemporary design and brick construction with an overall measurement of 85 by 46 feet.

Father Cox said there are compelling needs for the new building. He pointed out that Holy Cross originally served the spiritual needs of the immediate neighborhood, and communicants now live in every part of the city and outlying districts.

In the past four years, he said, the church has doubled the size of its congregation.

The cornerstone of the present chapel, more properly known as the Memorial House of the Holy Cross, South Cumberland, was laid on June 13, 1891, nearly 70 years ago.

Believed to be one of the oldest in that section of town, the structure was built by Miss Mary C. Perry and her brothers, Thornton and E. Tayloe Perry in memory of their mother, Mrs. Estelle Tayloe Perry.
